ARMY ACCUSES 5 MORE

New Massacre Charge Filed

. . . NEBRASKAN INCLUDED

Atlanta, Ga. (AP) — The Army filed new charges of murder, assault and rape Tuesday in connection with the alleged massacre at My Lai, adding five more soldiers, including Capt. Ernest L. Medina, to the list of men accused in the incident. The number of accused now stands at 10.

Medina, 33, of Pico Rivera, Calif., was the commanding officer of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who goes to trial May 18 on charges of premeditated murder in the deaths of 102 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

The Army charged Medina with four counts, one of maiming and murder, two of murder and one of assault with a deadly weapon. The three murder counts are linked to the sweep through the hamlet March 16, 1968, and the assault charge stems from an incident the following day. All allegedly occurred during interrogation.

The others accused Tuesday and the charges include:

—Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc, 35, of Ft. Omaha, Neb.; two counts of murder and one of assault. He is accused of killing one person during interrogation the day of the raid.

—S.Sgt. Kenneth L. Hodges, 24, of Dublin, Ga.; one charge of rape and one of assault with intent to commit murder.

—Pvt. Max D. Hutson, 22, of Attica, Ind.; one count of rape, one of murder and one of assault with intent to commit murder.

—Sgt. Esequiel Torres, 21, of Brownsville, Tex.; two charges of murder and one of intent to commit murder.

The charges against two other soldiers were technically transferred to Ft. McPherson in Atlanta. The soldiers are:

—Sgt. Charles E. Hutto, 21, of Tallulah, La., accused of rape, murder, and assault with intent to commit murder.

—Pvt. Gerald A. Smith, 22, of Chicago, accused of murder and indecent assault, a charge short of rape.

No Further Details

The Army would not release further details because public disclosure might prejudice the rights of the accused, said a spokesman at Ft. McPherson here, where seven accused have been assigned.

The five charged Tuesday now face investigations to determine whether they will be brought before a court-martial for prosecution.

Calley, a 26-year-old platoon leader under Medina, was charged Sept. 5, the first to be accused after the alleged massacre came to light 18 months after the raid.

There have been several separate investigations of the raid, including the Army's own survey conducted by Lt. Gen. William R. Peers.

He and his investigators sought to determine whether field officers concealed the result of the My Lai raid.

Medina Denied It

Medina, who was company commander, said in December he knew of no massacre at My Lai. He said he neither ordered a massacre nor heard of one.

The Army said the charges generally involve offenses allegedly committed against Vietnamese while the accused men were serving with the American Division. Many were former members of Company C, 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry, 11th Brigade.

Others previously accused include:

—Sgt. David Mitchell, 29, of St. Francisville, La., charged with assault with intent to murder 30 noncombatants.

—Capt. Thomas K. Willingham, 25, of Allenhurst, N.J., charged with killing 20 Vietnamese.

All but Willingham, Calley and Mitchell have been transferred to Ft. McPherson under an Army order consolidating the investigation of the My Lai incident.

The Army said the investigations of Calley and Mitchell had gone too far to transfer them, and Willingham still is being held under jurisdiction of the 1st Army. No trial date has been set for Mitchell, stationed at Ft. Hood, Tex.

Capt. Kotouc Ex-Resident Of Humboldt

Humboldt — Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc, 35, one of five additional men named in charges connected with the alleged massacre at My Lai, is a former resident of Humboldt.

He was the adopted son of the late Milton and Nellie Kotouc, according to Otto Kotouc Jr., Humboldt attorney and nephew of the Kotoucs. The elder Kotouc was a Humboldt merchant.

Residents here said Capt. Kotouc had been in the Army about 15 years. He formerly attended the Milford Vocational-Technical School, where records showed he was a student in the auto body department for six months, leaving in September, 1952. He is also a former student at Wentworth Military Academy.

The captain has recently been transferred to Ft. McPherson in Georgia. His wife, two daughters and one son are still residing at Ft. Carson in Colorado.

Capt. Kotouc's sister, also adopted by the Kotoucs, is Mrs. William (Jane) Hedberg of Denver.

Capt. Kotouc visited in Humboldt at Christmas time.

Fulbright Scoffs . . .

Peace Corpsman: I'm Not In Politics

Washington (AP) — Peace Corps Director Joseph Blatchford denied Tuesday that he used the agency's publicity department to promote his own political career.

"You stretch my credulity," said Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who raised the question. "I just don't believe you."

Fulbright cited a speech Blatchford made at a Lincoln Day dinner in Albany, N.Y., last month and asked the Peace Corps director:

"Are you using the Peace Corps funds and apparatus to get ready to run again?"

"That is not true," replied the 35-year-old Californian.

He Was Unsuccessful

Blatchford, who unsuccessfully sought a California House seat in 1968, added: "I'm sure if I were I wouldn't be in Albany, N.Y."

The exchange occurred at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing on the Peace Corps' request for $98.8 million for the year starting July 1.

Denying he is "involved in politics," Blatchford conceded that the speech, which he said was made at White House request, "was to a political group, the Republican Party."

"But it wasn't part of any campaign," he said. "Unfortunately, by a clerical error," the text was reproduced at the Peace Corps' expense and transmitted to all of the agency's offices.

Fulbright said his copy was one that had been distributed in California.

Blatchford said he will guard against appearing before political groups in the future, but Fulbright said the committee will defer action on the Peace Corps' money request until it is supplied with details on the cost of distributing the speech, including how many copies were sent to California.

"If this is what the Peace Corps is going to be used for," Fulbright said, "I'm in favor of transferring its activities to another agency."

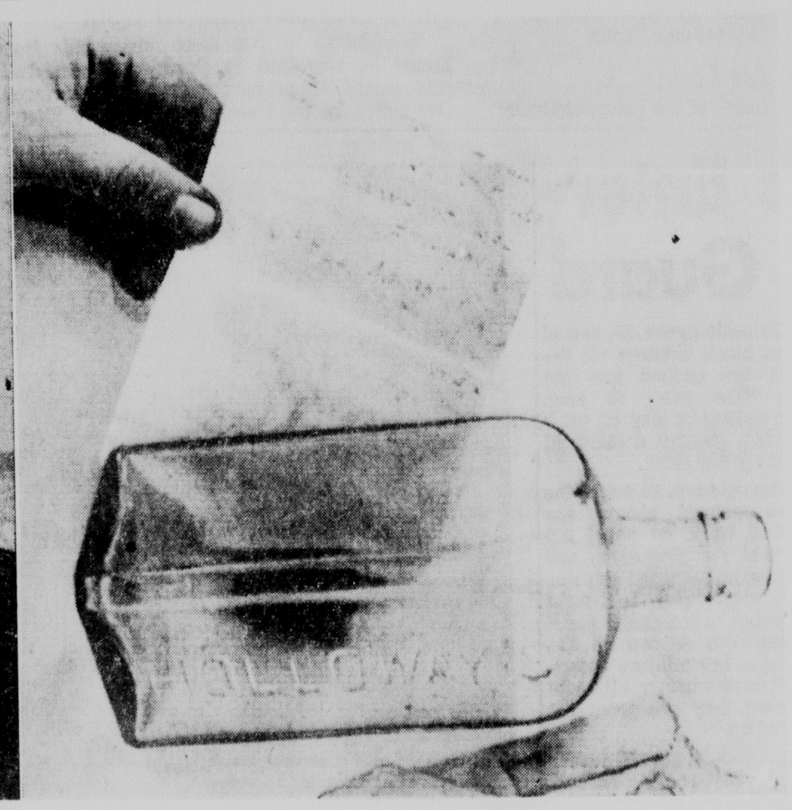
Later in the hearing, Fulbright read the director another dispatch quoting him as saying that, in recruiting members of the Peace Corps National Advisory Council, "I'm looking for Republicans."

Response Is Quick

Blatchford said quickly he is looking for "members of all minority groups."

"That would include the Republicans," cracked Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, adding that he knew of some Democrats who have been hired by Blatchford.

"You shouldn't say that in public," Fulbright admonished. "We'd like to keep them there."



NOTE IN BOTTLE TURNS UP 37 YEARS LATER

In 1933, two days out of Yokohama, Japan, Guy Cameron of San Francisco, left, put a note in an empty gin bottle and tossed it overboard from the Japanese liner Asama Maru. Last week, 30 miles northwest of San Francisco, fireman Bill Williams says he found the bottle on a beach. A friend of Cameron's read about the discovery in a newspaper story. Cameron, 80, contacted Williams, who said he will give him a picture of the bottle and a photostatic copy of the note.

Judge Sets Parker Hearing Deadline

. . . TO DETERMINE VOLUNTARINESS OF CONFESSION

An order issued Tuesday by U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt gives Lancaster District Court 90 days from Feb. 27 to provide a hearing for Darrel F. Parker to determine if his confession to the 1955 murder of his wife was voluntary or coerced.

Van Pelt's order was made in accordance with a directive of the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis.

Parker, 37, who spent 13 years in the Nebraska Penal Complex after his 1956 conviction of the strangulation murder of his wife, Nancy, was freed on $5,000 bond by Van Pelt in December pending further court action on the case.

The circuit court had ruled last fall that a criminal investigator coerced the confession from the former city forester, but the State of Nebraska appealed the decision to the U.S. Supreme Court and won a ruling that state courts should have been the first to determine the voluntariness question.

Parker's attorney had carried the case to the appeals court after Van Pelt denied on June 27, 1968, a petition by Parker for a writ of habeas corpus.

Van Pelt's order Tuesday vacated that denial and provided that if the District Court does not give the hearing "within the time prescribed, or within such extension of time that may be granted, that the writ of habeas corpus be granted."

If the hearing finds Parker's confession was voluntary, his 1956 conviction would stand but he could appeal to the Nebraska Supreme Court and through the federal courts.

But if the District Court decides Parker was coerced into giving the confession, he would have to be given a new trial.

Van Pelt said Tuesday the question of Parker's bond was not included in the latest order because it will depend on motions either by Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas or Parker's attorney.

"I do expect the matter will come up," the judge said.

Man Faces 'Massive Moral Problem'

By KEN NEUNDORF
Star Staff Writer

Man in American society today faces a massive moral problem, a former priest told 300 people on the University of Nebraska campus Tuesday, but the problem isn't pornography, sex, abortion, divorce or a myriad of other things usually considered immoral.

The problem, said Dr. James Kavanaugh, who left the Catholic Church two years ago, is that "man is dying a secure death by not having lived."

Americans, imprisoned by economy, packaged religion, packaged politics and material pseudo-needs, are "ever amassing social symbols to make up for what lacks inside," Kavanaugh said.

Very Sad, Lonely

"I think we are a very sad and very lonely people in our society," he said, indicating that perhaps the "ecological death" in the news today is a "symbol of the death of our society."

Americans are instilled with the idea that they are what they produce, he said, through social and educational motifs that go to work almost as soon as a person is born.

Organized religion, Kavanaugh said, offers only a "frightening codification" of rules that reduces "the spirit of a movement, the spirit of Jesus, to the kind of question such as, 'Do you accept Jesus as your savior?' "

'Free Man'

What is needed, he indicated, is that people must "create a man," a human being who is free to be himself, "to respond to another human being."

In the freedom process, Kavanaugh said, perhaps men "can recapture the spirit of Jesus, the spirit of Buddha," or the spirit of other great religious leaders.

Kavanaugh, who later told newsmen he quit the priesthood basically because "the church was not speaking to modern society" and because it was "not honest with modern society," spoke extensively of the "unbeliever."

Stifle Freedom

The unbeliever, he said, realizes that institutions such as business, government and the church stifle freedom, but he is "not out to destroy" such institutions.

Instead, he hopes they will destroy themselves.

"He knows he is a man, older than any of them" Kavanaugh said, explaining that the unbeliever, in his definition, is an "inner-directed man," a "man in touch with himself."

During a question period, Kavanaugh, asked if he thought Christ meant to form the church in its present form, answered, "If I did, I would have very little respect for Christ and I have great respect for him."

Divinity An Illusion

Divinity, he continued, is an illusion created by men and churches as an excuse that some power other than man is responsible for men's lives.

Divinity, in effect, Kavanaugh said, is a "cop out because we do not believe man can be good without it."

The unbeliever, he said, moves beyond definitions, cliches and dogmas, especially cliches such as the "narrow, bigoted view of patriotism" contained in "America — Love It or Leave It" bumper stickers.

The Twentieth Century, Kavanaugh said, could be characterized as the age of anxiety and hostility, a destructive and objectiveless form of fear and anger.

2nd Explosion Within 24 Hours Hits In Maryland

Cambridge, Md. (AP)—A midnight explosion, the second in Maryland within 24 hours, ripped a gaping hole in the Dorchester County Courthouse Tuesday causing several hundred dollars damage, a county official said.

Omaha Nixes School Bonds

Omaha (UPI) — The $20 million Omaha school bond issue was overwhelmingly rejected by Omaha voters Tuesday, with about 72% voting against the proposal.

Douglas County Election Commissioner Monte Taylor said Tuesday night the unofficial tabulation, with all 305 precincts reporting, was 13,863 for the issue and 36,708 against the proposal.

Taylor said the turnout was "unusually high for a special election," in spite of brisk weather.

He said 39% of the registered voters had been expected to go to the polls, while 35.6% actually voted.

Officials said there were only a few precincts that carried slight "yes" vote margins, and they were primarily in West Omaha.

Senate OKs Extending Voting Act Northward

Washington (AP) — The Senate voted Tuesday to amend the 1965 voting Rights Act to bring parts of New York City and other scattered areas outside the South under its automatic coverage formula.

On a third roll call vote, it adopted 50 to 37 an amendment by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., to extend coverage on the basis of the 1968 presidential election. The amendment first failed on a 43-43 tie vote, but the Senate then voted 47 to 38 to reconsider.

The adoption of his amendment marked the first dent in the drive of civil rights forces to extend the 1965 act without change for another five years. Earlier six amendments offered by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., had been rejected.

Cooper's amendment provides that the act's provisions shall automatically apply to any state or county using a voter literacy test Nov. 1, 1968, if less than 50% of its voting-age population was registered or voted in the presidential election that year.

He said the Justice Department had advised him the amendment would extend coverage to three New York State counties — Kings (Brooklyn), New York (Manhattan) and the Bronx — three Alaska districts, and one county each in Arizona, California, Idaho and Oregon.

The present law uses the same formula but is based on the 1964 presidential election. Under it, Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina, Virginia and 39 counties in North Carolina are covered.

In covered areas, voter literacy tests are suspended, federal registrars are authorized, and no election law changes may be made without advance approval of federal authorities.

Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska, Nebraska Republicans, voted with the 50-37 majority.

NWU Professor Gets Grant For Platte Valley Dam Study

A federal matching research grant to Dr. Michael Cowan of Nebraska Wesleyan University will help underwrite a two-year study of the ecological impact of water impoundment in eastern Nebraska.

Dr. Cowan said the research is in response to recent proposals to impound water in the Platte Valley system in eastern Nebraska.

"The study will help us understand the ecology (the interrelationships of organisms aand their environment) of the Platte Valley near Ashland in enough detail so that in the event a dam or some other proposal is implemented, ecological changes can be anticipated and monitored," according to Cowan, assistant professor of biology.

Dr. Cowan received word of the grant, contingent upon availability of funds, from the Office of Water Resource Research of the U.S. Department of the Interior.

The $22,050 federal grant will be matched by Nebraska Wesleyan in the form of released time for Cowan and Dr. Marvin Bichel and Prof. Glen Deppen, two other biology department faculty, and through use of research facilities and equipment.

Cowan suggests that there are three ways to utilize the Platte and its drainage — to leave it as it is, construct a large reservoir, or to divert small quantities of the Platte or its tributaries into diversion reservoirs for recreation, leaving the major drainage unchanged.

He said his research study, scheduled to begin in July, will consist of three parts. First step calls for a complete analysis of the existing river system; data related to types and numbers of flora and fauna, existence of rare or endangered species, and major important chemical constitutuents which exist in water, soil and tissues of organisms.

Second phase of the study will consist of reconnaissance of impoundments in the same general vicinity (Gavins Point Dam, Lake McConaughy) to serve as models of finished reservoir projects.

Finally, the data from the first two parts of the study will be integrated to provide a reasonably accurate projected reservoir potential of a given site, Cowan explained.

Israel Delays Action While Villages Fortified

(c) New York Times News Service

Jerusalem — A senior Israeli military official said Tuesday that Israeli reaction to Arab guerrilla infiltration across the Lebanese border was being delayed while Israeli settlements in the area were being fortified. Once the protective measures are completed, the Israeli response would likely lead to an exodus of Lebanese villagers across the border.

More Memos Come To Light

Washington — Two more memoranda from Daniel P. Moynihan to President Nixon, both sent before Nixon took office, have surfaced. One called for the transformation of the "Negro lower class" into a "working class" because this would take away the fears of middle-class whites. The second detailed the breakdown of family, church and community authority in the nation's larger cities.

Sen. Javits Objects In Vain

Washington — Over the strenuous objections of Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., the Senate approved an amendment that would extend the 1965 voting rights act to six non-Southern counties that had less than 50% of the voting-age population registered or voting. The amendment would include three New York City counties. (More on Page 1.)

Lamar Blacks, Whites Enter School Under Heavy Guard

© The New York Times

World News

Lamar, S.C. — Whites and blacks went to school together Tuesday under heavy armed guard in this troubled town one week after a mob of white adults attacked three school buses carrying Negro pupils.

State police carrying shotguns turned back two groups of whites who marched on the school shortly after classes began Tuesday morning. One man carrying a billy club was arrested.

Only 52 Negroes and 24 whites showed up at the adjoining elementary and high schools, which have an official enrollment of about 900 pupils, school officials reported. The black children arrived by bus escorted by state patrol cars; the whites came by private cars or walked.

Some 125 state policemen with shotguns gripped across their chests formed three separate phalanxes outside the high school at 8 a.m. as the first bus carrying black children pulled up. Police cars were positioned to form barricades lining the driveway, and National Guardsmen with rifles were positioned aboard two armored personnel carriers equipped with tear gas pumps. Overhead, two orange police helicopters circled in a brilliant blue sky.

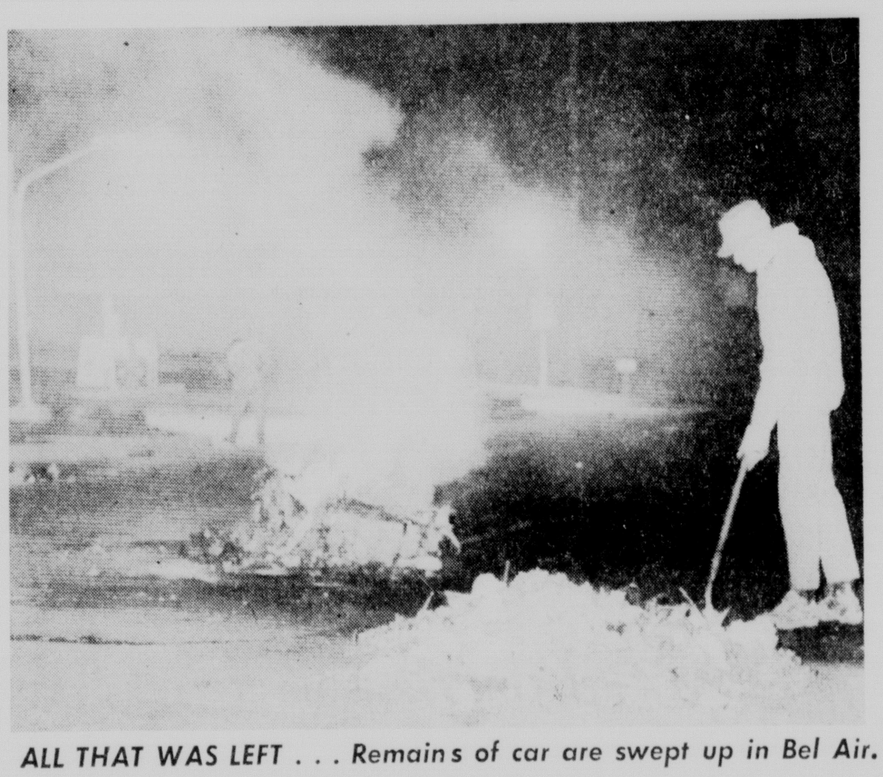
"No, sir, I'm not scared," piped Priscilla Green, 10, one of the first black children off the bus as she walked into the school. "I'm going to keep coming as long as they let me," she added, shifting a stack of textbooks in her arms.

Annette Johnson, 16, one of the students trapped aboard the buses last week by about 200 white men swinging clubs and hurling rocks, admitted she was apprehensive. "But I thought today would be the safest day," she said with a nod in the direction of her military escort. "I don't know whether I'll come back when they are gone; it's too mixed up."

"These people around here," injected 17-year-old Dolores Damon, "should realize we're human beings." She said many of her friends would not return to school because they and their parents had been intimidated by last week's disorder.

An organized boycott had kept almost all the white students away from the high school since a court order desegregating the school district went into effect Feb. 18. The 22 white high school students, most of them upperclassmen, reported for class Tuesday morning.

"I want to come back to get my education," said Mitchell Tyner, 16, a soft-spoken junior in shirtsleeves.



ALL THAT WAS LEFT . . . Remains of car are swept up in Bel Air.

Explosion In Car Kills Associate Of Militant Brown, Unknown Man

Bel Air, Md. (AP) — An associate of Negro militant H. Rap Brown and a man whose identity remained a mystery were killed Tuesday by an explosion that tore apart the car in which they were riding south of here.

Brown himself was nowhere to be found — not at home in New York City or Bel Air, where he is on trial on charges of arson and inciting to riot.

But a medical examiner and Brown's lawyer, William M. Kunstler, said they did not believe the second dead man was Brown.

Also in dispute was whether the men had been transporting explosives in the vehicle or were victims of a bomb that had been planted in their car.

Tentative Ruling

The chief deputy medical examiner of Maryland, Dr. Werner U. Jekpitz, said he ruled tentatively, but not conclusively, that the victim was not Brown because of a difference in hairline, ear lobes and nose.

Hoping to make a positive identification from fingerprints, he went to Bel Air to look for the hands, which had been blown off the body.

Kunstler, who also was the defense attorney in the Chicago 7 riot conspiracy trial, said he hadn't talked to his client but was certain he was "laying low."

"I don't think he's even in Maryland," he said.

Trial Adjourned

Circuit Court Judge Harry E. Dyer adjourned Brown's trial until Monday.

One victim of the blast Monday night was identified as Ralph Featherstone, 31, a friend of Brown and an associate in civil rights campaigns.

Police said the wallet of the second man had papers with the names Will Rogers of Selma, Ala., William Henry Rogers of Enfield, N.C., William Herman Payne of Covington, Ky., the Rev. C. B. Robinson of Atlanta, Ga., and Kacheby Robinson, no address listed.

Car Borrowed

The two were killed when an explosion shattered a borrowed automobile in which they were riding on U.S. 1 south of town.

The car was registered in Baltimore to Jean Wylie, who had worked in previous civil rights campaigns with Brown. She told police she had loaned the vehicle to Featherstone.

State police said the car would be examined in Washington at the FBI laboratory.

Administration Opposes Act To OK Voting At 18

Washington (AP) — The Nixon administration — still on record in favor of lowering the voting age to 18 — vigorously opposed Tuesday doing it by an act of Congress.

And Margaret Mead, the nation's foremost woman anthropologist, warned that any technicality that blocks extending the voting age to the nation's youth will be regarded by them as a trick and as proof there is no room for them in the political system.

William H. Rehnquist, an assistant attorney general, told senators studying the issue that the Justice Department has severe doubts that lowering the voting age by congressional vote would be constitutional.

Such a move is the thrust of an amendment offered by Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield to a pending voting rights bill.

The administration amendment would lower the voting age in federal elections only.

Chairman Birch Bayh, D-Ind., of a subcommittee on amendments and other senators want to lower the age in all elections — federal, state and local.

Rehnquist contended that the concept of federalism demands that each state must decide voter qualifications for its own elections.

But he conceded that confusion and frustration might result if a young voter were able to cast his ballot for president, but not for governor.

Dr. Mead joined several other witnesses in contending extension of the ballot to youth is a logical, timely and a completely justified action.

"We need them to ask the timely questions, to release the latent power and strength of this country to deal responsibly with the present and future."

Lindbergh Plans To Publish Diary

New York (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh, the first man to fly the Atlantic ocean alone, plans to publish a diary he kept during World War II and the years leading up to it.

Harcourt, Brace & World, Inc., said Tuesday the 400,000-word diary will be published in September under the title "The Wartime Journals of Charles A. Lindbergh."

The diary includes the period in which Lindbergh opposed American entry into World War II, leading President Franklin D. Roosevelt, indirectly but publicly, to question his patriotism.

Growth Rate To Double Population In 39 Years

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — If the present growth rate continues the world population will double in 39 years, the United Nations said Tuesday.

World population reached 3.483 billion by mid-1968, according to the latest United Nations Demographic Yearbook.

The publication showed an increase of 63 million in one year from mid-1967.

180,000 Each Day

Population growth around the world is now averaging 1.9% yearly, or 180,000 every day.

A breakdown of the regional figures in the yearbook indicate that Africa had 336 million population in mid-1968, North America 222 million, Latin America 267 million, Asia 1,946 million, Europe 455 million, Oceania 18.5 million and the Soviet Union 238 million.

China remains the country with the largest population, said the publication. A UN estimate places its total at 730 million.

Next comes India with a population of 524 million, the Soviet Union with 238 million and, in fourth place, the United States with 201 million.

Ship Waiver Canceled

Washington (UPI) — The Nixon administration, under fire in the Senate, Tuesday canceled a waiver that could have provided unusual profits for a ship company formerly headed by a White House aide.

The waiver would have allowed the tanker Sansinena to operate in U.S. coastal trade although it is registered under the Liberian flag. Its foreign registry would have permitted it to operate at much cheaper costs than its U.S. registered competitors.

After Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., questioned the propriety of the waiver in the Senate Monday, Rep. Edward A. Garmaiz, D-Md., announced Tuesday morning that the Treasury Department has canceled it.

Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy said the waiver had been granted "without reference" to any presidential assistants and that the waiver "is being suspended because of questions which have arisen over the merits of the case since the waiver was granted."

The White House said Monday it had not known about issuance of the waiver, but that the Treasury would have something to say about it later. Tuesday, presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler said, "We were aware it (the cancellation) was going to be done."

The waiver was quietly granted March 2 to the Barracuda Tanker Co., formerly headed by Peter M. Flanigan, now one of Nixon's aides.

Jury Decides Stanley Hoss To Lose Life

Pittsburgh (AP) — A jury unanimously recommended the electric chair Tuesday for Stanley B. Hoss Jr., convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of a policeman.

The judge said formal sentencing would be passed later.

Hoss' attorney said an appeal will be filed.

Hoss, 26, of nearby West Tarentum, had pleaded innocent to charges that he shot Joseph P. Zanella last Sept. 19.

The jury of seven women and five men returned a first degree murder conviction Monday and deliberated little more than an hour Tuesday before returning the death sentence in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court.

Hoss, the object of a widespread manhunt through the Midwest, was captured in Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 4.

He has also been charged with kidnaping ot a Cumberland, Md. woman, Linda Peugeot and her 2-year-old daughter Lori Mae.

In testimony Tuesday, FBI agent Daniel Dunn of Pittsburgh testified that Hoss confessed to killing both mother and daughter near Johnstown, Pa. Their bodies have never been found.

Brown Swiss Captures 'Cow Of Year' Honors

. . . Bigness Seen As Main Change In Dairying For '70s

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Bigness will characterize change in dairying in the 1970's, according to Tom Lyons, director of public relations for Midwest Breeders Cooperative, Shawano, Wis.

Lyons, in addressing the annual meeting of the Nebraska State Dairymen's Association here Tuesday, listed the following prospective changes for the dairy industry in the next decade:

—Half the dairy farms now in existence will be gone by 1980, with commercial dairy farms with sales over $10,000 annually increasing by 50%.

—Total number of cows will decline, but number of cows per farm will triple and milk production will increase by 50% per cow.

—Larger herds and more production per cow will quadruple milk production per man per year.

—Milk prices in the 70's will likely be higher to cover high production costs. Unit margins will be smaller so producers will look to volume for profit.

Coveted Award

One of the most coveted awards in dairying went to a Brown Swiss cow owned by George and Mary Ann Woolsey of Inland when their Verna's Zemp Lollypop was named Cornhusker Cow of the Year.

It was the first time that veteran dairy extension leaders could recall that a Brown Swiss took the top honor that has long been claimed annually by the Holstein breed.

To win this honor a cow has to score high in three divisions,

WOOLSEY . . owner of Cow of Year.

Cornhusker Dams of Production, Cornhusker Beauties and Cornhusker Brood Cows. The Woolsey winner ranked first in the brood cow division, second in production and fifth in type.

The second place Cornhusker Cow of the Year was a purebred Holstein owned by Flynn Field Farm of Blair. The third place winner was another Holstein owned by Herschel Flower of Fairbury.

Other awards included:

Total Nutrient Award Contest—The highest total among 36 cows in four age groups competing was a purebred Holstein owned by Ruben Meier of Grand Island. Meier also owned the two-year-old class winner in the nutrient event.

Other age group winners were Dale R. Engleman of Harbine, four-year-old Holstein, and Hirschler Dairy Farms, Inc., of Harbine with the three-year-old winner represented by a grade Holstein.

Meritorious Lifetime Production Award — This award was won by a purebred Holstein owned by Herschel Flower of Fairbury.

The second and third place awards in this event also went to Holsteins owned by Flower.

34 Herds Cited

Owners of 34 Nebraska dairy herds which have maintained consistently high butterfat production for five years or more were cited.

The five herds recognized for 20 consecutive years of high production were: Lloyd and Roland Johnson, Hershey, Holstein; Ruben Meier, Grand Island, Holstein; Richard Tempel, Seward; Pfeiffer Farms, Arlington, Guernsey; and the Nebraska Penal Complex, Holstein.

Herds recognized for 15 years high production were owned by: Hirschler Dairy Farm, Inc., Harbine, Holstein; John Frew, Crete, Holstein; Walter Kottich Jr., Falls City, Holstein; Charles Emanuel, North Bend, Holstein; Leonard Schwisow, Powell, Holstein; Vernon Huneke, Wilber, Brown Swiss; Paul Riggert, Odell, Guernsey; Elvon Rice, Fairbury, Holstein; and Arthur Wiechert, Lincoln, Guernsey.

Herds recognized for 10 years of high production were owned by: Donald Luebbert, West Point, Holstein; Stanley Johnson, Oakland, Brown Swiss; Stork Bros., Arlington, Holstein; Heinzman Bros., Phillips, Holstein; Howard DeFrain, Fairbury, Holstein; Ray Brubaker, Holmesville, Holstein; Epp Bros., Henderson, Holstein; Wallace Axberg, Lincoln, Holstein and Lea Fairley, Fairbury, Guernsey.

The top ranked cow recognized by the Nebraska Guernsey Association for breed production honors was Goin Farms Fern, owned by Francis P. Goin of Wymore, with a butterfat production of 879 pounds.

A three-year-old Jersey, Jestermaid Jo Queen, owned by Robert Nauman of Lincoln, ranked first in the Nebraska jersey production contest sponsored by the Jersey Cattle Club.

Two Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisors recognized for 10 years service were Herman Maxson of Valley and Al Dahlkoetter of Norfolk.

Tribute Is Paid To Sen. Otto Liebers

The Block and Bridle Club selected the Nebraska State Dairymen's Association luncheon Tuesday as the occasion to honor the late state Senator Otto H. Liebers of Lincoln, recognized as one of Nebraska's all time great dairymen and state leaders in agriculture, conservation and government.

Senator Willard Waldo of DeWitt read a tribute to Mr. Liebers. The presentation of the Liebers portrait was made by Terry Cameron of Herman, vice president of Block and Bridle, to Dr. Frank Baker, chairman of animal science University of Nebraska.

Portrait In Hall Of Fame

The Liebers portrait will be hung in the Hall of Fame in the new Animal Science building on the East Campus.

Nebraska News

Chancellor Durward Varner of the University of Nebraska spoke briefly to the dairymen on his appreciation of Nebraska agriculture.

Varner said, "I detect a magnificent agriculture in Nebraska. They can talk about Nebraska being a backward state if they want to, but your 93 bushel per acre corn average is going to make Iowa sit up and take notice."

Chancellor Varner noted that most of his college experience has been connected with agriculture.

"I was impressed and surprised with the agriculture we found in Nebraska," said Chancellor Varner as he recalled his position as director of Agricultural Extension in Michigan.

Legal Aid Unit Lawyer Investigating Jail Fire

Omaha (AP) — Roger Lott, a Legal Aid Society lawyer, says he is investigating circumstances in the fire which killed three Douglas County Jail inmates Sunday night.

Lott said the society's help was requested by Leo Record, father of one of the victims. A society spokesman said the organization could not represent Record in any lawsuit for damages.

"I told him we would, within certain bounds, represent him before any county board, if it becomes necessary," Lott said. "I'm just advising him on the matter."

Sheriff Ted Janing said the bodies of Raphael Record, 17; George Stephens, 17, and Stephen Beber were found in the cell on the sixth floor of he Courthouse Sunday night after a deputy had made a futile effort to rescue them.

"This is a terrible thing to happen in Douglas County," the elder Record said. "The sheriff's office has fumbled the ball. This thing is not going to go by untouched."

Joseph Beber, father of another of the victims, said he felt sheriff's officials had been "irresponsible."

Janing said the only way such fires could be prevented would be by either building a new jail in which jailers could see all cellblocks or by putting a deputy in each cellblock "to baby-sit with the prisoners."

Chief fire investigator Joseph Pluta said it appeared the fire was deliberately set by the youths, then it got out of hand. He said the three were overheard plotting to start the fire so they could get blisters on their hands and be taken to a hospital.

Woman Injured In 3-Car Crash

A Lincoln woman was listed in critical condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital early Wednesday after a mishap involving three automobiles at 84th and O.

Sharon L. Fichtner, 23, of 1108½ Charleston, whose southbound automobile was in collision with a westbound vehicle driven by John M. Kreifels, 36, of 7541 Steinway Rd., was thrown from her car and then struck by a third vehicle.

Kreifels and the driver of the third auto, Nate Mantel Jr. of Omaha, were not injured.

$1,600 Stolen

Police were seeking suspects Tuesday in the weekend burglary of East Hills Country Club at 1700 So. 70th. The burglars removed three bags from an unlocked desk drawer, apparently when the club was open for employes.

The bag contained cash, checks, and credit-card receipts totaling $1,604.

Brownville Highway Hearing Delayed For Restudy Of Plan

By United Press International

The Highway Commission said Tuesday it was restudying plans to relocate U.S. Highway 136 where it approaches the Missouri River bridge in Brownsville.

Ken Gottula of the commission's planning section said three or four other routings would be considered in an effort to save numerous historical sites in the area.

A hearing on the original relocation route, scheduled for next Tuesday, has been cancelled.

Gottula said commission officials met recently with representatives of the Brownville Historical Society to review the existing plan.

He said the Brownville group and the State Historical Society differed over which sites were more significant but wanted the commission to try to save as many as possible.

Gottula said it would be "almost impossible" to reach the bridge without encroaching or destroying some sites but he said the commission would coordinate its plans with the historical societies.

He said it would probably be six or eight months before new plans could be submitted for a hearing.

WE Enters Plan Of Training Disadvantaged For Employes

Omaha (AP)—One of Omaha's largest employers, Western Electric Co., says it is getting set for a program of training disadvantaged people for the firm's skilled work force.

A class of about 10 new employes is to begin training April 1 at the Omaha Opportunities Industrialization Center.

The firm's Omaha manager for industrial and labor relations, James O. Bosworth, said it will be the first time Western Electric has allowed new employes to be trained by outside supervisors and instructors.

He said the trainees will be paid at the beginning of training and are to be selected by the OIC subject only to passage of a physical examination.

Bosworth said the program is supported by Local 1974 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, a bargaining agent at Western Electric's Omaha plant.

The first class is to train for 12 weeks to operate wiring equipment.

Golden Harms Dies In Korea

Brandon (AP) — The Defense Department has informed Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harms of Brandon that their son, Army Spec. 4 Golden Harms, 20, has died in Korea.

No details of his death were released.

Survivors include his wife and a son in Korea, his parents, three brothers and a sister.

Police Testify At Trial For Ex-Patrolman

Omaha (AP) — A succession of police witness led off for the prosecution Tuesday at the manslaughter trail of former patrolman James M. Loder, charged in the fatal shooting last June 24 of Vivian Strong.

Loder, 31, who is white, is charged in the shooting of the 14-year-old Negro girl. A jury of six men and six women, all white, is hearing testimony before District Judge Lawrence Krell.

The girl's parents, James L. Strong and Mrs. Kasie Strong, were present as an Omaha policeman testified that a crowd tossing rocks and bottles kept him from photographing the scene where the girl died.

Patrolman Ronald Efferding testified that he and his partner, Officer Richard Fuqua, were stopped by a large crowd from taking pictures and were forced into their cruiser car and out of the area.

Efferding said they returned to the area about one and one-half hours later and again were repulsed by a crowd. They went back two hours later, Efferding testified, and took pictures.

Forced Entry

Harlan Renwanz, an Omaha housing authority maintenance man, told the jury a nearby apartment bore signs of a forced entry.

Renwanz said the apartment had been vacant for three to four weeks, and during the day of the shooting he had replaced 10 broken windows. He said he was called back about 25 minutes after the shooting to replace a newly broken pane in the apartment.

Motorcyclist Dies In Crash

Omaha (AP) — Omaha police early Tuesday reported they had been notified of the death Sunday of John Steven Capoccia Jr., 21, of Omaha as the result of injuries suffered Saturday in a car-motorcycle collision in Omaha.

Capoccia died at Douglas County Hospital after being injured in the collision of his motorcycle and a car driven by Addison W. Wilson, 65, of Omaha.

Paper Emptied By Bomb Threat

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

The May election proposal for creation of an electric utility management board will prove that there is nothing perfect in this world. What we have today is imperfect and the proposed solution is imperfect. In the final analysis, there may be no perfect way to do it.

Today, the Lincoln Electric System is under the complete jurisdiction of the City Council. The weakness in this is obvious—the City Council is part-time and, therefore, cannot devote to the management of the utilities the time that multi-million-dollar operation demands.

This would be helped some by the appointment by the council of an administrative board to manage the utility. But that has some weaknesses, too. The weakness is primarily in the area of public interest.

★

Such a board would not be close to the people. Such a board could be stacked heavily in favor of certain groups, especially the high-income group. When the council looks for people to put on the board, it is going to look to successful men and women in business, industry and the professions.

But what about the average wage-earner? He would not be represented on the board. Now, maybe the board would adequately consider that average wage earner but what assurance do we have of that?

Obviously, there could be no such assurance. It is important because the rate structure for electric service is split in half—residential and commercial. And there are two theories that prevail in rate-making circles.

Either you favor commercial on the theory that it stimulates business and, therefore, benefits all people, or you favor residential on the theory that the home-owner should not subsidize business and industry.

★

The perfect rate, of course, is one which tries to split things down the middle. This gives to commercial users some benefit as a result of volume buying but still maintains a rate for residential that recognizes it as a large single bloc and as a steady and reliable customer.

This is the kind of rate we have today in Lincoln — a fair rate to all users. In Omaha, the rate is weighted in favor of business and industry and that's the way you would find it throughout most utilities and in most areas.

Now, we have that kind of rate in Lincoln because of one thing and one thing only — we have been a publicly owned and operated utility. Final authority today rests with the City Council, which is an elected body.

That council may come largely from upper or above-average income levels but it is elected city-wide and you can't serve on it without an overpowering awareness of your responsibility to all citizens, big and small, and of your public trust to give all segments of the city equal consideration.

★

An appointed board would never have such a sense of overall public responsibility and it is ridiculous to think that it would. Even an elected board would not have the same sense of feeling for the total citizenry as does the City Council.

Additionally, we now have one more matter to consider. The City Council currently has the Lincoln Electric System under the active management of Consumers Public Power District, now legally the Nebraska Public Power District.

Consumers, or NPPD, is a public entity, not private, and has been oriented toward its public responsibility all of its existence. Additionally, NPPD is one of the best management or operating units in Nebraska and, perhaps, in the country.

Would a board approach to management, either appointed as now proposed or elected, move away from NPPD and from the concept of public responsibility which has been the dominant fact to date? It is a risk we are not yet ready to recommend the voters take.

'Dont' Be Picky—Nothing Wrong With Him Except His Record'

Demo Support Lags

Remember the recession year, 1958? That year marked the high point of Democratic Party success in Nebraska since the 1930's. The Republican stranglehold on the Statehouse was broken with the election of a Democratic governor and state treasurer. Two Democratic congressmen were elected from this state, as well.

In the years following the elections of Brooks, Larsen, Brock and McGinley, only Democrat Frank Morrison had any consistent luck with the voters, winning three consecutive terms as governor, and with him, Phil Sorensen winning a term as lieutenant governor and Clair Callan a trip to Washington from the First Congressional District. But those were largely personal victories, not indicative of strong party backing or a healthy two-party system in the state.

For looking at it truthfully, there is not now nor has there been for some time a two-party system here. We are reminded of that continually.

Monday night, Lancaster County Democrats had what was billed as a fund-raising dinner, one that had been put off before and rescheduled for this time. Granted, it was only a county-level affair, but it would figure the party organization could have scared up more than 70 Democrats to attend. That kind of gross isn't going to bankroll anything.

Speaking before the party gathering were Mrs. Wallace Peterson, wife of the U.S. Senate candidate, and his opponent for the Democratic nomination, David Thomas, gubernatorial challengers J. J. Exon and Sen. Jules Burbach and First District congressional aspirant Bill Burrows. The candidates were there, but not much rank and file to speak of. The Democrats, while not possessing a wealth of candidates, have some strong choices to offer to voters and apparently have imaginative, hard-working leadership at the state level. The candidates and the organization need support, however, if the Democrats are to carry their part of the partisan adversary system.

Change Not Always Progress

When the last Legislature changed the election laws, it provided in many small towns and villages for the primary election system of nominations to replace the time-honored caucus system. One idea was to provide for a more democratic approach to government.

But the Legislature, despite its heavy representation from relatively small-town areas, did not reckon with the practical effects of its actions. In eliminating the caucus, the Legislature has apparently eliminated a lot of people from the election process.

With the caucus, a group in the town would get together and see to it that the proper number of people were nominated for every open office on the city or school board and other offices. Now, nominations have to be made through the regular primary system.

The trouble is that no one is filing for many offices such as mayor, village board, school board, etc. We don't know why, really, but it must just be the way things go in some of the lesser populated areas of the state. Things get to be a lot more personal in such areas than they are in a larger city where everyone does not know everyone else.

As they generally do, the small towns had solved their problem in their own way. Then, the Legislature hoped to improve on things but apparently did not do so. The caucus system may not have been the most democratic process but it did get names on the ballot. If the new system fails in that, a return to the old way would be in order for 1971.

Sen. George Murphy On Frawley's Payroll

WASHINGTON — From the day Senator George Murphy, R-Calif., came to Washington in 1965, he has supplemented his Senate salary by pulling down $20,000 a year from Technicolor, Inc. The Hollywood company has become almost synonymous with Patrick J. Frawley, Jr., the right-wing millionaire who took it over in 1961.

The Frawley firm also has been helping to foot the bill for Murphy's plush Washington apartment, which has its own movie projection studio. In addition, Technicolor provides Murphy with credit cards, which permit him to charge other expenses to the company.

The easy-smiling, light-stepping Murphy appeared in 45 motion pictures, including a few Technicolor extravaganzas, before he traded in his box-office appeal at the voting booth.

Pat Frawley, who made his fortune in ball-point pens and then went on to become the Schick razor king, has been a sugar daddy for right-wing causes. Frequently, he has used corporate funds to promote his political ideas.

In 1964, Frawley mailed a propaganda book, intended to boost the presidential candidacy of Barry Goldwater, to thousands of Catholic clergymen. The self-made millionaire declared fervently in a covering letter: "I am convinced that how we Catholics vote on November 3 will decide not only the future of America but also the future of five hundred million Catholics and of the whole free world."

Senator Murphy recently met behind closed doors with Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., and chief counsel Ben Fern of the Senate Ethics Committee to explain his financial dealings with Technicolor.

After first denying any discussion of ethics, Murphy finally acknowledged to this column that he had talked over his financial affairs with Stennis and Fern.

The California senator said he had been retained as a "consultant" by Technicolor. The company paid half the cost of his Washington apartment, he said, because company officials used it when they visited the capital. He never used the company's credit cards, he said, except to pay his expenses when he was on company business.

Asked what consulting he did for Technicolor, Murphy mentioned two company charities. He stressed that there had been no conflict with his Senate duties.

This column then questioned him about Technicolor's annual $3.5 million contract to handle all the filming at Cape Kennedy, Fla. The senator said that the contract had been signed before he entered the Senate and that he had scrupulously avoided having anything to do with the renewals.

"I attended two moon shots at Cape Kennedy," he said, "and I didn't even visit the Technicolor laboratory."

President Must Decide On More Arms For Israel; Deeper Issues Lie Far Beyond Few Phantom Jets

WASHINGTON — Within the next few days or weeks at most, President Nixon will be obliged to decide whether he is going to sell more Phantom jet fighter-bombers to Israel. It is not quite clear why he insists on imposing those 30-day deadlines on himself, but he does, and this one will bring him up against questions that reach far beyond the issue of arms for Israel.

From a strategic viewpoint, probably the most important change on the map of the world since the last world war is the movement of Soviet power westward into the heart of Europe and southward into the Middle East and along the southern shore of the Mediterranean.

From the viewpoint of America's vital interests, this "southern leap" by Moscow into the oil fields and intercontinental crossroads of the Middle East is fundamental. The questions of Vietnam and Laos, the dreams of President Pompidou and President Nasser, the sale of French jets to Libya — all these are relevant but secondary to this larger question of the changing balance of power in the Middle East.

The Soviet Union is operating, as usual, on several political tracks at the same time. It is talking quietly and sensibly about the control of nuclear weapons; it is signing pacts which forbid the spread of nuclear weapons but retain them for the major powers; but it is imposing its military power on Czechoslovakia, extending its control of Eastern Europe right up against the frontiers of Western Germany, and exploiting the Arab hatred for Israel to extend its influence in the Middle East and along the southern shore of the Mediterranean.

This creates a devilish dilemma for President Nixon. He wants to cooperate with Moscow to reduce the cost and threat of the arms race, and avoid the spread of nuclear weapons, but he hesitates and quibbles about getting out of Vietnam and about drawing the line with the Soviets in the Middle East, and this is understandable.

He is, I believe, ready and even eager for a genuine accommodation with the Soviet Union under which neither side would dominate either Southeast Asia or the Middle East, but when he asks for cooperation in Moscow or Vietnam, Laos, Cairo or Jerusalem, he is rebuffed and feels he has to fall back on the use of force and the balance of power.

It is not quite fair to say that President Nixon is insisting on a military solution in Vietnam or that Israel is insisting on a military solution of its dispute with the Arab states, so long as the United States offers to make a general settlement both places, respecting the independence and security of everybody concerned, without the domination of either Washington or Moscow, and Moscow and its allies refuse.

This problem is not going to be settled by Saigon, Hanoi, Cairo or Jerusalem, or by French jets to Libya or military maneuvers in Laos, or demonstrations against President Pompidou in Chicago or New York, or by more Phantom jet planes for Israel.

Maybe the Phantom jets are essential to maintain the present power relationship in the Middle East and give everybody time to think about the real phantom.

In the short run, these mechanical Phantom jets have power, but in the long-run, power in the hands of 2.5 million Israelis is an illusion against 70 million Arabs backed by the military power and expansionist determination of the Soviet Union.

The only power that can really deal with this is the power and commitment of the United States. Nixon cannot deal with the vital interests of the United States against the determined thrust of Moscow into the Mediterranean merely by giving Phantom jets to the Israelis. This is a real phantom, and a mental illusion.

If he is going to deal with the new reality of Soviet power in the Middle East, he will have to guarantee the security of the boundaries of Israel and the Arab states, not only against open communist aggression, which he is now committed to do, but against subversion or any other kinds of aggression. And he is not likely to get the cooperation of either Israel or the Arab states for a compromise unless he does.

The Middle East, like the Balkans of the pre-war generation, is not the cock-pit of world politics. It cannot be resolved by the military struggles of the Israelis and the Arab states alone, or by President Pompidou, President Nasser, or Premier Meir or by 35 Phantom jets. It can be resolved only by compromise, guaranteed by the power and determination of the United States, which is the only thing that can contain the southern thrust and power of the Soviet Union.

This is the real question Nixon has to face in the next few days: whether he will deal merely with the Phantom jets or whether he will deal with the real phantom of the Middle East

The Carswell Racial Record

LONDON—The dilemma that President Nixon confronts on the racial issue is plain enough. Many white Americans have come to resent black demands, and the President wants to take account of their feelings. That is not inappropriate, for resentment and alienation among white people are a serious social danger.

But it hardly needs to be said that there are deep resentments on the other side as well. The intensity of black feelings at even an intimation of retreat from civil rights progress has been shown in the angry reaction to the memorandum by Daniel Patrick Moynihan, the President's counselor. Nixon knows how easily bitterness in the black community could destroy the rui peke he desires.

The nomination of G. Harrold Carswell to the Supreme Court has to be considered in this light among others. For it is becoming a symbol of indifference to racial justice.

When Judge Carswell was nominated two months ago, he appeared to be undistinguished but harmless, a federal judge from Florida who would meet quietly the President's wish for a southern appointment. But Senate hearings and newspaper explorations since then have changed that picture. Judge Carswell has a record in the racial field that cannot be overlooked.

☆ ☆ ☆

In 1948, Harrold Carswell said in a political speech that he would yield to no one in his "belief in the principles of white supremacy." This year he termed that view "obnoxious" and said he no longer holds it.

In 1953 he drafted a charter for a Florida State University boosters club that opened membership to "any white person interested in the purposes."

In 1956, while he was a United States attorney, he joined in a scheme to lease Tallahassee's municipal golf course, built with $35,000 in federal funds, to a private segregated club for $1 a year. Although the local papers prominently displayed the racist purpose of the scheme, and the document he signed stated it, Judge Carswell said this year that he had been unaware of it.

In 1966, Judge Carswell sold land with a covenant attached that restricted its occupancy to "members of the Caucasian race."

Between 1962 and 1968 he was, according to Prof. LeRoy D. Clark of the New York University Law School, "the most hostile federal district judge I have ever appeared before with respect to civil rights matters." Professor Clark said Judge Carswell was "insulting" and "would shout at a black lawyer who appeared before him while extending every courtesy to white lawyers."

A young lawyer now working for the Justice Department, Norman C. Knopf, said that while acting as a civil rights attorney he had heard Judge Carswell express his disapproval of Negro voter registration projects. Another lawyer testified that he had heard Judge Carswell advise a city prosecutor how to "circumvent" a civil rights decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit. Judge Carswell denied any discourtesy or prejudice toward civil rights lawyers.

☆ ☆ ☆

In December, 1969, Judge Carswell reportedly told the following joke to a meeting of the Georgia Bar Association:

"I was out in the Far East a little while ago, and I ran into a dark-skinned fella. I asked him if he was from Indochina, and he said, 'Naw, Suh, I'se from Outdoh Gawja."

In a written statement last month, Judge Carswell denied that there were any racial overtones in that joke.

That record displays at the very least an extraordinary insensitivity. It must raise questions about Judge Carswell's fitness for a lifetime position on a court that must decide some of the most sensitive and most important racial questions before the country. For the black community, the idea of Judge Carswell on the Supreme Court bench must now be a provocation.

Judge Carswell's record on race was obviously not known to President Nixon when he made the appointment. It is never easy for a political leader to admit a mistake, but in this instance the President should do so for the most urgent of reasons: the country's interest and his own.

Withdrawal of the nomination now would not even, necessarily, do permanent damage to Nixon's relations with the South. It would be demeaning — and untrue — for any southerner to suggest that there are no southern lawyers better qualified to sit on the Supreme Court than G. Harrold Carswell.

The Wanderers

Lincoln, Neb.

Under our system of government, we have the federal government broken down into the state governments; the state governments down into the county governments; and from the county governments down into the city governments with no provisions for a counter-action by the rural areas. As a consequence, we have the rural areas wandering about hunting a political home. We can no longer compete with the city governments that politically control the counties and in turn back up to the federal government.

A more loyal people, you don't have than the rural people, considered as groups. Throughout the year they have maintained their loyalty to the federal government and they will continue to maintain it.

I suggest that we rural people be provided with some local government of our own entity. Perhaps we can solve the frustration, crime rate, tax problems and what have you. We smell a varmit's nest in the city governments and I think with a little help we can clean it up.

In reply to The Star's editorial, "Jail Fails Test" (March 6), may I add that a jail is not a failure in a real society. It may or may not be a failure in today's and yesterday's society. It might be a failure in tomorrow's society.

A jail is a place for an individual who has failed in society.

Two Societies

Lincoln, Neb.

Not only as a practicing sociologist but also as a citizen, I take umbrage at the hypocritical and fallacious statements made by Senator Hruska in Lincoln March 7.

Senator Hruska was quoted as saying: "I don't believe schools should be institutions for sociological theories or ideologies." Just what does this mean? He goes on to explain that segregated schools are not unconstitutional if they develop "in the natural course of events as a result of the fact that people live in certain neighborhoods" (de facto segregation). Well and good. However, he states further that "a conscious policy of segregation (in the schools) accomplished by law, regulation, coercion or intimidation must be overcome under both the Constitution and law." What, then, are the recent open housing laws of the state of Nebraska as well as its two largest cities all about? They in effect attempt to rectify the decades of practicing segregation, which in operation meant that black people were not allowed the freedom to move and live in a neighborhood, and therefore a school, of their own choice.

This pattern of segregation did not occur "in the natural course of events," as Senator Hruska implies, but rather by the conscious and planned activities of white institutions and persons to deny the natural movement of black citizens. How can a neighborhood be "natural" when many of them were based on the unnatural and unconstitutional acts of segregation?

And so now Senator Hruska rationalizes existing neighborhood segregation and therefore segregated schools by saying it was "natural" and therefore by this logic quite reasonable and correct. This is what southern racists say when they claim it is "natural" that the races be separated. Thus Senator Hruska and his southern compatriots both come out "naturally" the same when you look at their voting records on civil rights. The only difference between them is that we can never accuse the southerners of being hypocritical.

Right on, Senator. Keep on doing your best to insure the continuation of two societies, separate and unequal.

Not Worried

Anselmo, Neb.

I understand our congressman to say he didn't care whom the Democrats nominate to oppose him — they don't have enough money to defeat him. The Republicans have plenty of money and are going to have a lot more. He didn't say, but the reason is that any opponent he may have will have to get his financial support from the people who vote for him and our congressman's money is coming from the people he is voting for. Following this line of reasoning, his supporters have most of the money, and as soon as they get it all, we will have just a one-party system.

High Court To Consider ABA's New Ethics Code

The Nebraska Supreme Court Tuesday took under advisement a proposal that the American Bar Association's new code of ethics and professional responsibility be adopted for the state's practicing attorneys.

Adoption of the new code was recommended by the Nebraska State Bar Association in a hearing before the high court.

Herbert Baird of Omaha, state president, said the new code, "a monumental work" requiring some six years to draft, has been adopted in seven states and recommended in nine others, including Nebraska.

He said the State Bar Association's House of Delegates approved the new code last fall and recommended its adoption for Nebraska practice.

Charles F. Adams of Aurora, immediate past president, said the new ABA code has been criticized as "too complicated," but he noted it presents "an answer to almost every situation that could arise."

The present century-old code of ethics, Adams noted, is complicated by some 1,300 interpreting opinions.

"The new code has an advantage of providing uniformity of ethics and professional responsibility for attorneys throughout the United States," he said. "A student's manual is also provided to encourage ethics courses in law colleges."

Also appearing in favor of the code's adoption was the Nebraska Association of Trial Attorneys.

Also taken under advisement by the Supreme Court was a proposed rule of practice permitting "professional corporations" for attorneys, as authorized by the 1969 Legislature.

"Professional corporations are primarily for tax advantages," the court was told, "and won't change the traditional responsibilities and liabilities in the practice of law."

Forty-eight states now permit "professional corporations" in one form or another.

Robert T. Marland of Lincoln filed Tuesday as a Republican candidate for the State Railway Commission in the First District.

Marland, 52, served as appointive term on the commission from February, 1967, until January, 1969.

He was an administrative assistant in the Department of Administrative Services, but resigned the post in filing for the Railway Commission.

During his service on the commission, he participated in establishing railroad crossing inspection standards and reorganization of its motor transportation division.

Before moving to Lincoln, Marland owned and operated a cattle ranch for 22 years and was active in the Nebraska Stock Growers Association.

Previously filed for the seat are Walter C. Haase and John E. Finnigan, both of Lincoln, and Dale L. Payne of Bellevue.

The race in the 40th District, currently represented by Sen. William Wylie, drew its third entry in Adolph M. Rittscher of Tilden. Wylie and John W. DeCamp of Neligh are the other entries.

Walter T. Dinan of Omaha, became the fifth bidder for the fourth district seat which Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha is vacating.

Michael J. Jackson of Omaha, filed for nomination to the 12th District seat held by Sen. Richard Proud of Omaha, making this a three-man race.

E. C. Newburn of Lincoln indicated his intent to file for the Legislature from the 26th District, having paid a filing fee with the Lancaster County treasurer.

The district is represented by Sen. John Knight, who is not a candidate for re-election. Already filed are Wally Barnett and Robert J. VanValkenburg, both of Lincoln.

Real Estate Unit Suspends Omahan

The Nebraska Real Estate Commission reported Tuesday it has suspended for 60 days the real estate broker's license held by Robert E. Johnston of Omaha.

The action was based on a finding that Johnston failed properly to prorate certain taxes on property involved in a sale transaction and failed to carry out a promise to the Real Estate Commission to take remedial action.

The complaint was lodged by Samuel R. and Jean E. Billingsley of Plattsmouth, purchasers of the property involved.

Red Troops Ambush Laotian Army Convoy

Vientiane, Laos (AP) — North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao troops ambushed a Laotian army convoy 14 miles south of Luang Prabang Tuesday and a senior officer said it was part of the enemy's attempt to isolate the royal capital.

The ambush occurred on a road just off Route 13, which links Luang Prabang with this administrative capital 140 miles to the south. Five government soldiers were reported killed and eight wounded. A helicopter flew the wounded to Luang Prabang.

The small convoy was hit by rocket grenades and automatic weapons fire. One truck was destroyed.

Isolate Capital

In Luang Prabang, Col. Bouachanh, chief of staff of the northern region, said the ambush was more of what he called the increasingly successful effort by the enemy to isolate the royal capital by guerrilla action.

"The situation around Luang Prabang and in the whole northern sector of Laos is critical," he told reporters. "The enemy has enough forces, enough equipment and is close enough to attack us any time. If they want to be here, they can within 24 hours.

Route 13 has been the scene of several recent ambushes and the pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces are operating as close as 15 miles to Luang Prabang on the north, Bouachanh said.

Bouachanh announced government troops had launched a drive to recapture Muong Ngeun, an outpost 60 miles southwest of Luang Prabang that fell to the enemy Friday.

In Vientiane, Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma awaited the arrival of a ranking Pathet Lao officer carrying a peace offer.

The Pathet Lao said Col. Thavinh Sienkahm was bringing the proposal from Sam Neua, its capital in northeast Laos "at the earliest date possible." The colonel was described as a senior aide to Prince Souphanouvong, titular leader of the Pathet Lao and half-brother of Souvanna.

Gov. Ronald Reagan of California announced his candidacy for a second four-year term Tuesday. The 59-year-old Republican ex-actor said, "There is no limit to the heights we can reach" if the spirit of the 1770s can be recaptured.

Americans In Laos Get Combat Pay

Washington (AP) — Americans advising and training the Laotians to fight the war in Laos have drawn $65 monthly combat pay since Jan. 1, 1966.

The Pentagon, disclosing another facet of the Laos activities Tuesday, said the stipend goes to U.S. servicemen in Laos even though the Southeast Asian country is not considered a "combat zone."

The White House last week said there are 228 military personnel among the 1,040 Americans working for the U.S. government in supposedly neutral Laos. One serviceman as well as six American civilians have been killed there.

Defense Department spokesman Jerry Friedheim said his announcement of the combat pay was "in line with our desire to make increased information available to the American public" on U.S. involvement in Laos.

Similar compensation goes to virtually all U.S. military men serving in Vietnam as well as along Korea's Demilitarized Zone.

Friedheim said that, unlike Americans fighting in South Vietnam, men assigned to Laos do not receive certain income tax benefits related to service in a combat zone.

The Pentagon also disclosed that Capt. Joseph K. Bush Jr., the first U.S. serviceman killed in Laos, was posthumously awarded the Silver Star, the nation's third highest combat decoration, after his death at Muong Soui Feb. 10, 1969.

Dynamite Snuffs Gulf Of Mexico's Biggest Oil Fire

Venice, La. (UPI) — Firefighters put out the Gulf of Mexico's biggest oil fire with a mighty dynamite blast Tuesday, then tried to control what could grow into history's largest oil slick.

Crude oil spewed in a dark brown geyser 100 feet high above a Chevron Oil Co. platform 30 miles out from Venice.

A dynamite blast blew out the fire but experts said it would be from five to 15 days before firefighters can cap the cluster of wells and stop the gush of oil which is polluting rich offshore sea beds.

The platform began burning Feb. 10. It was estimated the platform could pour from 600 to 1,000 barrels of oil per day until it is capped.

Savings Bond Group To Hear Marine Band

The Fourth Marine Aircraft Wing Headquarters Band, from the U.S. Naval Station at Glenview, Ill., will perform Wednesday evening at the kickoff dinner for the U.S. Payroll Savings Bond campaign in Lincoln.

The dinner is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. in the Brandeis cafeteria.

"Through our Lincoln campaign," said Samuel J. Marchese, chairman, " we hope to increase the large number of citizens who now regularly invest in U.S. Savings Bonds.

"More bond sales and more employe participation is needed to counteract strong inflationary forces," Marchese said.

Air Crash Kills Politician's Son In West Germany

Flensburg, Germany (AP)—The only son of Bundestag President Kai uwe von Hassel was killed Tuesday in the crash of a Starfighter jet southeast of here, the navy reported.

First Lt. Joachim von Hassel, 29, became the 57th West German pilot to lose his life in a crash of a U.S. designed F104 Starfighter. It was the 117th loss since the West German armed forces started flying the planes in 1961. Von Hassel was a member of the West German navy.

'People's War' Waged

Tokyo (AP) — "The revolutionary masses in southern China . . . are waging a people's war" against water snails that transmit snail fever, Peking's New China news agency reported.

Cigarette Ad Ban Passed

Washington (AP) — The Senate Tuesday passed a bill that would ban cigarette commercials on radio and television after Jan. 1, 1971.

The measure is awaiting action by the House.

"This represents the last and most satisfying chapter in the saga of congressional efforts to face up to the hazards of cigarette smoking," said Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., before the Senate approved the bill 75 to 9.

Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, said the measure was a landmark of legislation in the health field.

The bill also requires a tougher hazardous warning on cigarette packages. The current warning required by Congress in 1965 says: "Caution: Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The new warning that will be required six months after the bill is signed by the President will say: "Warning: The surgeon general has determined that cigarette smoking is dangerous to health."

Proposal To Restructure Faculty Senate Presented

A proposal to restructure the University of Nebraska Faculty Senate into a representative assembly was revealed Tuesday but action on the plan was deferred until the next meeting, April 14.

Increasing size of the senate and "inefficiency" of the body were cited as reasons for the change in a committee report.

The senate currently is comprised of all staff members with the rank of assistant professor or higher.

The committee proposed a variety of methods for selecting representatives to the proposed assembly and several other plans were presented by faculty members.

However, numerous persons opposed the representative body, indicating that such action would be "abdicating responsibility" by the faculty and would be unworkable in that few persons could adequately represent more than one department or discipline.

The committee proposal called for a senate comprised only of faculty members, excluding both administrative personnel who may be members now and students.

Students, however, would remain on the Senate committees and a formal liaison should be established with the Associated Students organizaton, according to the proposal.

"Serious consideration" was given to a faculty-student senate, but the committee concluded that only faculty should be involved, Prof. Franklin Eldridge reported.

Bryan Volunteer Services Headed By Mrs. Adams

Mrs. Evelyn Adams has been appointed director of volunteer services for Bryan Memorial Hospital, it was announced Tuesday.

Mrs. Adams, formerly a volunteer at the hospital, replaces Mrs. Ruby Forsberg.

Plans for the future include building a male volunteer service for both the teenagers and adult programs, according to Mrs. Adams.

Volunteer programs are "vital in keeping the cost of hospitalization to a minimum," she said, saying that volunteers last year devoted nearly $50,000 worth of free time to patients.

Crimebuster Warns Against New Laws Violating Rights

©The New York Times

Washington — Sen. John L. McClellan, long one of the Senate's most aggressive no-holds-barred crimebusters, warned the Nixon administration Tuesday against the enactment of anti-crime laws that would violate suspects' constitutional rights.

The dour, conservative Arkansas Democrat delivered a brief lecture to Will R. Wilson, assistant attorney general in charge of the criminal division, on the need to restrict the reach of proposed new legislation so that it will pass muster before the Supreme Court.

Wilson testified before the Senate subcommittee on criminal laws and procedures on behalf of the Nixon administration's proposed bill to enable federal law officers to obtain court orders that would require suspects to give fingerprints, voiceprints and hair, blood and handwriting samples and to stand in lineups when there was insufficient evidence to arrest them.

McClellan, the subcommittee chairman, is famous for his frequently gruff criticism of court decisions that limit the police. He is also the author of a similar fingerprinting bill, which was apparently the model for the Nixon administration's proposal.

But he responded initially to Wilson's presentation by cautioning him that the proposed law would involve a very sensitive constitutional area. "We must take care to make this within the framework of the Constitution," he said.

McClellan questioned the Justice Department's proposal to create a new type of warrant that would give federal agents authority to take suspects who could not be legally arrested into custody for fingerprinting and other identification tests.

He argued that the same evidence could be obtained without placing people in police custody "on suspicions," by using subpoena-type summonses that would require them to go before a federal magistrate to submit to fingerprinting or other identification measures. Wilson replied that magistrates are not always available, and that Congress should adopt an uncomplicated procedure that states could copy.

McClellan conceded that "frankly, I'm a little surprised" to find the Justice Department calling for broader police power than he would recommend. He assured Wilson that one reason for his own caution is that the courts have "found every technicality they can and invoked it in behalf of the defendant," and that if his subcommittee isn't thoughtful of individual rights the law will be declared unconstitutional "and all of our efforts are in vain."

Autopsy Ordered For Anderson, 60; Hit Parked Car

Omaha (AP) — An autopsy was scheduled for a 60-year-old Fort Calhoun man who was dead on arrival at an Omaha hospital following a traffic accident about midnight Sunday.

Police said a pickup truck driven by Charles Edgar Anderson struck a parked car. Investigators said neither vehicle suffered much damage.

Officers suspected a heart attack might have been responsible for the death and ordered the autopsy.

Car Repair Shop Accident Is Fatal To George Dahl

Wayne (AP) — An accident which occured as he was working on an auto in an automotive repair shop Tuesday claimed the life of George Dahl, 44, of rural Wayne.

Wayne County Atty. Donald Reed said Dahl was working under a car at the Wolske Auto Co. when a jack tipped, dropping the vechicle on top of him.

Dahl is survived by his widow and three children.

NU Student Wins Mention In Mathematical Competition

A University of Nebraska sophomore, Kenneth A. Brakke of Lincoln, received honorable mention in the annual William Lowell Putnam Mathematical Competition.

Brakke, a mathematics major in the College of Arts and Sciences and son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron K. Brakke of 1735 So. 52nd St., placed in a tie for 22nd in the competition among more than 1,500 selected undergraduate mathematics students from more than 170 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada.

Only two Big Eight universities, Nebraska and Kansas, had students receiving honorable mention ratings, according to competition results supplied by Dr. Dale M. Mesner and Dr. Walter E. Mientka, associate professors in the department of mathematics and supervisors of the competition at the University.

Two other NU math students also ranked in the top one-third. They are Karl E. Byleen, a junior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Byleen of 710 No. 58th and David A. Jackson, a senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Jackson of Cambridge.

Oliver H. Jones To Speak Friday

Watershed Board Hopeful Changes Filing Designation

A candidate for the Salt Valley Watershed District board of directors refiled Tuesday as a candidate for that position which requires a director to reside on a farm in Saline or Lancaster County.

Charles Gove of rural Benton had previously filed for the position which must be filled by a resident of either a farm or town outside Lincoln.

Gove will run against incumbent Ken Weaver of rural Raymond.

Also filing for the watershed district was Richard Marloff of Waverly.

A farmer, he filed for the position which requires a person to either live on a farm or in a town outside Lincoln. He will run against incumbent Dale Harlan of Raymond.

County Board Takes No Action When Resolution Turns Up Missing

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday failed to take action on a proposed amendment to the county zoning regulations which would permit dog kennels, chinchilla farms, horse stables and riding academies in AA Rural and Public Use districts.

They indicated that they felt immediate action should be taken but were unable to locate a resolution believed to have been prepared sometime since J. H. Vance first appeared before the board last October.

Vance had requested permission last fall to build dog kennels off U.S. 77 near Lear's Steak House just outside the three-mile limit. It was then discovered the county's regulations didn't cover such uses and an amendment to the regulations was proposed.

EDWARD J. PIERCE

Pierce Files For Sheriff

Edward J. Pierce, 33, a Lincoln City fireman, filed Tuesday for Lancaster County Sheriff on the Democratic ticket.

He became the first Democrat to file for the office now held by Republican Merle Karnopp, who is seeking re-election. Karnopp is opposed in the primary by Republican Kenneth Nelson, a former deputy sheriff.

Pierce said that his primary objective as sheriff would be to "talk to the public and get their opinions on what is needed" in the way of law enforcement.

He expressed no dissatisfaction with Karnopp's performance as sheriff, but felt that "it is time for a change."

He also said that he would "like to see more of the sheriff's patrol out during the daytime in the county," to reassure the public that it is on the job.

Pierce said he had considered running for more than a year.

Need For Water Pollution Control Aid Not Critical Yet

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said Tuesday the issue of state aid for water pollution control hasn't reached a critical point because there's no plan "ready as yet" for cleaning up the Missouri River.

Tiemann's comments came during a one-day meeting of state officials and 40 mayors, councilmen and other officials from 16 towns on state-city relationships.

If a special session of the Legislature became necessary for one reason or another, Tiemann said he would consider making state aid for water pollution control a part of the session's business.

Water pollution control projects now receive up to 30% federal funding and 70% local funding. If the state would meet 25% of the cost, the federal portion would increase to 55% and the municipal share to 20%.

Tiemann estimated $3 million a year in state aid would meet such a commitment, and called it a "proper use of state funds."

In promising to consider water pollution control aid in a special session call, Tiemann mentioned the current Supreme Court test of legislative versus executive powers in budgeting and the possibility of an adverse decision in this case could prompt a special session.

Tiemann also told municipal officials he is considering a legislative bill requiring that any new program imposed on the municipalities by the state be funded by the Legislature or from some revenue source other than local general taxation.

Terming drug abuse a growing problem, the governor said he hoped his proposed commission on drug abuse would be given statutory status by the 1971 Legislature and adequate funding to provide educational programs on drug use and rehabilitation of drug users.

Various other state officials addressed the meeting.

Fair Price Put On Dead Rats

Taipei (AP) — Formosa has 79 million rats, a trade official reported, suggesting the government pay a bounty of 2½ cents per dead rodent.

"This is a fair price," he said, "It's high enough to encourage people to kill rats and low enough so they won't raise them to sell to the government."

High Court Refuses Again To Overturn School Land Sales Law

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

A sharply divided State Supreme Court refused for the second time Tuesday to overturn the 1965 Nebraska law calling for sale of the state's 1.6 million acres of state school land as current leases expire.

As before, only three of the court's seven judges gave their blessing to the act, and four dissented. But the State Constitution says five judges must concur to hold unconstitutional an act of the Legislature.

Tuesday's new opinions, comprised largely of dissents, resulted from a rehearing of the case, on which the original opinions came down last October. The suit against the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds, as trustee for school lands and school funds, was brought at the instigation of the Democratic Party in the name of Loren Belker of Lincoln as a citizen.

Termed Tragic Day

Commenting on Tuesday's developments, Belker termed it "a tragic day in the history of the state of Nebraska." While most states are trying to preserve their school lands, Nebraska seeks to unload its school lands "with reckless abandon," he said.

Belker, Lancaster County Democratic chairman, said the only recourse now is in the federal courts. The possibility of pursuing the objective of halting school land selling via federal court litigation will be considered, he said.

In one of the new dissents Tuesday, Judge Harry Spencer contended the five-judge rule itself is unconstitutional. None of the other judges joined in this particular theory.

Permitting three judges "to thwart the will of the majority" violates the equal protection clause of the U.S. Constitution, Spencer wrote.

Both Constitutions

Spencer noted that the five-judge rule applies whether the federal constitution or state constitution is at issue, and said this violates the federal constitution.

"Any dilution of the judicial power shatters the fundamental principle that government is divided into three coordinate branches—legislative, executive and judicial. Any limitation upon what is rightfully a part of the judicial power destroys the Republican form of government. If it is possible to require more than a majority vote, is it not also possible to require a unanimous vote? To so hold is foreign and hostile to our republican form of government."

As in the previous instance, the controlling opinion was joined in by Judges Leslie Boslaugh, Hale McCown and Robert L. Smith...

The dissenters originally were Chief Justice Paul W. White, Judges Spencer and John E. Newton and District Judge William F. Colwell, temporary replacement for an ailing Supreme Court Judge Edward F. Carter.

Lengthy Dissent

Judge Carter rejoined the bench on the case's rehearing, and wrote a lengthy and sharply worded dissent. He contended the controlling minority had sustained the constitutionality of the land sale act "without citing a single case or test authority." He said the controlling opinion "is legally unsound," and puts the court in the position of writing judicial legislation.

Basically, the dissenting majority contend the Legislature has deprived the Board of Educational Lands and Funds of its constitutionally assigned job of operating school lands and funds as trustee so as to yield the utmost benefit for schools. Dissenters noted that the board must sell the lands whether advisable or not under the circumstances.

The controlling minority suggested the Board of Educational Lands and Funds can go to court for redress if a sale appears to violate the trust.

Judge Carter, however, noted that there are 544 tracts under lease, and "it is possible that a minimum of 544 suits would be required to insure that the trustee procured the highest possible market value of the land for the benefit of the beneficiaries of the trust."

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

☆ By SIDNEY OMARR ☆

Forecast For Wednesday

The Cancer kitten will always find its way home. And the favorite part of that cat's house will be the kitchen. Some cats like television. Others like to rest on newspaper. But the Cancer cat sticks close to the food.

☆ ☆ ☆

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Money situation needs review. There is diversity of opinion. You may be drawn in two directions. Be sensible, but don't skimp on giving pleasure to loved ones. Message clarified by tonight.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): What appears adverse it likely to boomerang in your favor. Seek harmony. Be happy. Weight that seems to oppress you is temporary. Take it easy. Make peace gesture to family member.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You find great outlet in work, exercise. This is no time to confine yourself. Think of where you are going rather than where you have been. Be perceptive. See through attempted sham.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Some friends seem depressed. Don't attempt to be a back-yard psychologist. Help those who want to aid themselves. Steer clear of emotional entanglements of others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Realize you have some finishing touches to perform. Don't feel you must imprint your personal desires. What you want comes to you. You do not need to force issues.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You may feel grass is greener at a distance. But truth is you can create your own destiny. This is not meant to be metaphysical. Today — right now — you have required assets for success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Check financial resources. Checking account may need some beefing up — be realistic. Intuitive intellect is sharp. But you could also use some practical advice from knowledgeable person.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): You may be in expansive mood. This could result in expensive action. Have fun without being careless, extravagant. You are going to be very pleasantly surprised.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Adhere to rules. Be thorough. You cannot be an innovator without being imbued with basic information. Plainly, you must learn rules before breaking them. Be patient with yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You face some realities about romantic interests. If you expect perfection, disappointment arrives. If practical and mature, satisfaction could make an appearance. Think.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You may not get your price. But you do make definite gains in security area. You improve your standard of living. You are more secure inwardly. People express confidence in your views.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Say no to tourney which can lead you in circles. Your potential is great. But you have been receiving advice which is less than realistic. Play waiting game.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are a natural teacher. You can help others — now start aiding yourself. Get down to basic issues. You can and will clear away emotional debris.

Opinion Clarifies Nominating Rules

Justices of the peace in Nebraska continue to be nominated by a convention or committee of their political party, Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer held Tuesday.

Changes made last year in election laws did not change this nominating procedure, the opinion said.

The question with respect to justices of the peace chosen from certain cities in counties not under the township system, and counties under the township system, was put by Dodge County Atty. Richard L. Kuhlman of Fremont.

Travel—Popular Word In Suburbia

Travel seems to be the popular word in suburbia lately from the news we've been hearing the traveling included has dealt with long trips and short trips — some of them within Nebraska and some to other states. As Francis Bacon said, "Travel, in the younger sort, is a part of education; in the elder, a part of experience." Samuel Johnson had thoughts on the use of traveling. "The use of traveling is to regulate imagination by reality, and instead of thinking how things may be, to see them as they are."

Whether a journey is made a short distance or far, one certainly can't disagree that it is a part of one's education and experience. Trips to places we've never been also give us the true picture of the way things really are there, which may be greatly different from the way we may have pictured it in our minds.

Last week, Country Club Terrace residents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert I. Turner were in Urbana, Ill. while Mr. Turner attended the North-Central Regional Soil Survey Work-Planning Conference. Since the Turners are former Urbana residents, they had an opportunity to visit with many friends. Others attending the conference from Lincoln were John McClelland, Robert Eikleberry, William McKinzie, Richard Jackson, Lloyd Mitchell, Robert Grossman, Herbert Kohlmorgan and James Carr.

Two households of Prairie Valley residents have just returned from California, and for one family it was a stop on the way home. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Tyler returned Saturday, March 7 from a month in Hawaii and California. They spent the first two weeks in Hawaii and on returning to the mainland they visited with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Donald Langsley in Davis, Calif. Doctors Langsley and Langsley are both engaged in the practice of medicine, and their three children — all girls — are Karen, who is 12, Dorothy, who is 10, and Susan, who is 7.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. "Duffy" Helmsdoerfer also have just returned from California, where they spent the past two months. They will be leaving Lincoln as soon as they sell their home and will be moving back to California where they have purchased a home in Bermuda Dunes, Calif. Their home, by the way, is on the 18th fairway of the Bermuda Dunes golf course where the Bob Hope Classic Golf Tournament is held each year.

Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Eberhart of Eastmont went to Omaha to visit their niece, Miss Gayle Kohtz, who is a freshman at the Bishop Clarkson Hospital School of Nursing. Miss Kohtz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Kohtz of Albion also were in Omaha for the day.

Mrs. Charles H. Miller of Eastmont did not travel anywhere just recently, but had guests who did the traveling instead. On Monday afternoon, Mrs. Charles Backmeyer and Mrs. Orville Miller, both of Elmwood, were afternoon guests at Mrs. Miller's home.

MISS CATHRYN BAIRD

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Baird make announcement of the engagement of their daughter, Cathryn Ann, to John C. Chicoine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. Chicoine.

Saturday, June 27, has been chosen as the date of the wedding, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the Trinity Methodist Church.

Miss Baird is a former student at the University of Nebraska and now is careering in the administrative department at the State Capitol.

Mr. Chicoine is enrolled in pre-dental studies at the University of Nebraska.

Bridal Courtesy

Continuing the round of prenuptial courtesies honoring Miss Katherine Louise Haas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Haas, who will become the bride of Dean Jaeger on Saturday afternoon, April 11, will be the party which will take place at the bride-elect's home on Thursday, March 19. Hostesses for the festivities will be Miss Shirley Haas, Miss Shirley Fern and Miss Linda Van Austen. Guests will include neighborhood friends of the soon-to-be bride, and during the informal get-together they will present her with a linen shower.

The marriage of Miss Haas and Mr. Jaeger, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jaeger of Winside, will take place at a 2 o'clock ceremony to be solemnized at the Bethany Christian Church.

Mr. Jaeger attended Norfolk Junior College and the University of Nebraska.

MISS DONNA NYMAN

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Willian C. Nyman of Bessemer, Mich., make announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Donna, to Dan McMillen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. McMillen of Leadville, Colo.

The wedding will take place on Sunday, June 7, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the College View Seventh Day Advenist Church.

Miss Nyman is a senior at Union College where her fiance is a junior.

Town Talk

There are home-gains to mention this morning — Mr. and Mrs. John J. Wilson, for instance —They are home from the Virgin Islands where they spent a delightful holiday at St. Croix—

* * *

But it was an all-winter stay for Mr. ond Mrs. Joseph Lotto who returned last week from Laguna Hills, Calif. They plan to spend the summer at home — well, most of the summer. There could be a trip to Colorado in the offing.

* * *

It was an exceedingly hurried trip to Atlanta, Ga., for Mr. and Mrs. James MacLean who took time out from farewell courtesies to take a look at their Atlanta abode which they have leased for a year. They arrived home in time to keep a dinner engagement, however.

* * *

Despite the fact that we won't find June staring us in the face when we tear the month of March off the calendar, it really isn't too far distant. The friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel, however, are wishing that it could be closer than it is. Mr. and Mrs. Schimmel, as everyone knows, now are residents of Tucson, Ariz., but rumor has it that Mrs. Schimmel may come back to Lincoln to spend a couple of June weeks.

Together at last—gleaming patent and soft calf Naturalizer.

Party Honors An April Bride-Elect

We've had rain showers, snow showers and even sleet showers within recent days and for those we haven't even a remote fondness.

Our favorite type of shower also goes by the name of prenuptial courtesy which means, of course, that the incentive for the party is an attractive bride-elect. The one we have in mind at this moment is Miss Linda Stemper whose marriage to Stephen Jensen will be solemnized on Thursday, April 2.

Miss Stemper was honored last Saturday afternoon when Mrs. James Burden, Mrs. Merle Hamilton and Mrs. Robert Northrop were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Burden. During the informal afternoon the soon-to-be bride was presented with a shower.

In the picture, foreground, left to right, are Mrs. Jack Jensen, mother of the potential bridegroom; Mrs. J. M. Stemper, mother of the bride-elect; Miss Susie Stemper, the bride-elect's sister; Mrs. Northrop, Miss Stemper and her grandmother, Mrs. H. L. Stemper.

Workshop On "Consumerism"

The Nebraska Home Economics Association is sponsoring a "Fresh Approach to Consumerism" Workshop April 24 at the Cornhusker Hotel. The one-day meeting offers Nebraska educators, businessmen, home economists and consumers the opportunity to discuss consumer problems and their solutions.

A well-balanced program brings together three speakers representing business, government and education — the three major areas involved in consumerism. The 9 o'clock keynote speaker, a senior staff member of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington D.C., will present the "Government's Approach to Consumerism". Giving the "Educator's Approach to Consumerism" will be Dr. Eileen Quigley, nationally known for her work in consumer education. Dr. Quigley was instrumental in writing recommendations for the Illinois State compulsory consumer education bill, now being used as a model for other states.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Jenks, Green Giant Company's Director of Home Services, Minneapolis, Minn., will discuss "Business' Approach to Consumerism" at the Business-Consumer luncheon. Mrs. Jenks is currently chairman of the Consumer Services Committee of the Grocery Manufacturers of America. Speakers will be able to relate to specific problems of Nebraska consumers through advance copies of a Nebraska consumer problem survey; the survey was conducted by the Nebraska Home Economist Association's Consumer Interest Committee.

The fresh approach to the workshop is a true workshop format, opening communication and participation to all registrants through a reactor panel. The panel, composed of one representative each of Nebraska government, business, education, home economists and consumers, will react, following each speech, with audience questions as well as their own.

During the closing summary session, a panel of consumers, representing eight Nebraska geographical areas, will join the reactor panel with their interpretation of consumer problems.

Women's Club To Meet

Jules Burbach, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the governorship of the state of Nebraska, will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Lancaster County Democratic Women's Club which will take place Wednesday evening. The meeting, which will be held at Union Savings and Loan, 56th and O Sts., will begin at 8 o'clock.

Soroptimists

The board of directors of the Soroptimist Club of Lincoln will meet Wednesday evening at 6:45 o'clock at the Hotel Radisson-Cornhusker. At 7:30 o'clock a general business meeting will be held at the Hotel.

Teenage Weight and Complexion Problems

Vitamins and Your Skin

Skin beauty begins with proper nutrition. Skin, like every other part of the body, needs proper nourishment in order to be healthy. There are certain vitamins that play an especially prominent role in the maintenance of skin cells. These vitamins are vitamin A and vitamin B2. One of the most important functions of vitamin A is to keep skin healthy. (This vitamin is also needed for normal body growth and to prevent certain eye diseases.) Vitamin B2, or riboflavin, is found in the respiratory enzymes and is thought to be involved with oxidation in body cells. Lack of vitamin B2 results in skin lesions. Both of these vitamins are necessary to keep skin at its healthful glowing best. Mighty-2* is the ideal milk for teenagers. Mighty-2 is low in fat. Furthermore, it's higher in protein than ordinary milk. Protein is essential to good clear skin. There are many other factors that contribute to healthy skin — keeping your skin clean and getting enough sleep and exercise, to name a few. But making sure you drink plenty of Fairmont Mighty-2 is one of the nicest things you can do for your complexion. The National Dairy Council recommends that teenagers drink four glasses of milk a day.

American Women Per-Sueded

When Madame Pompidou wore a suede midi-coat at recent welcoming ceremonies in Washington, D.C. for herself and her husband, she reinforced a fast-growing fashion trend here in this country. Women in the United States have already been per-sueded to the lush looks of suede leather apparel, and particularly the chic styling of the American suede midi.

Although there is reassurance in having a fashion leader such as the French First Lady a part of the "swing to suede" movement, smart Americans did not really need this approval before climbing on the suede bandwagon. Leather Industries of America reports that sales of suede apparel this past winter increased substantially over the previous season, and indications are that Spring and Fall '70 business in U.S. suede garments will surpass these figures. Madame Pompidou has merely proved that "Judy O'Grady and the (President's) lady are," indeed, "sisters under the skin." In this case, the skin is soft suede leather.

With all style forecasts worthy of the name predicting that the drop in hemlines will be a permanent one, the midi or "longuette" should be "the" look for Fall. Our charming French visitor has given us visible proof — in the nation's press and on TV — that no material is more graceful in the mid-calf length than buttery suede leather.

Fashion-minded ladies here have already discovered many elegant suede garments — coats, dresses, suits, skirts — in the midi mood. And advance reports indicate that Fall will witness a veritable deluge of beautiful American suede fashions in the longer lengths — from high fashion houses to inexpensive lines. There will be trimly tailored styles with touches of hardware, stitching, and attention to seam construction, as well as a more slingy silhouette stressing softness and sash ties. The suede midi-skirt may be wrapped, buttoned or fringed. And for "grand entrance" glamour, there will be the suede midi-coat with fur trim at collar, cuffs, insets and-or lining.

Know Your Antiques

Derby porcelain figures like Field Marshal Conway were made about 1770. The figure pictures a British soldier and statesman who was in the Irish parliament. Sometimes this figure is also called Lord Cornwallis.

By Ralph and Terry Kovel

"Second Dresden" was the name used in ads to promote the 18th century Derby porcelains of England. Meissen figurines from Germany were expensive and desirable. Many of the English firms tried to copy the German pieces at a lower price.

The Derby factory was founded about 1750. They made dishes, figurines, candlesticks, and small boxes. Many of their figurines were copies of the Meissen shepherdess, the four seasons, or the classical gods. Some of the figures were unmistakably English in inspiration such as the portraits, of Shakespeare, Milton, Field Marshal Conway, and John Wilkes.

The feminist movement insisting on equal rights for women is news today. History shows that in the world of antiques, talented women were often able to obtain important jobs in England. American women did not gain prominence in the decorative arts before the 1900s.

Many of the important 18th and early 19th century English silversmiths included women such as Hester and Ann Bateman. The women were often daughters, wives, or widow of known silversmiths. It was probably easier for an 18th or 19th century woman to be a member of the silversmith guild than it is for a 20th century American woman to become a member of the pipefitters union. Alice Hepplewhite ran her husband's furniture business after his death and she made the Hepplewhite name famous.

Two American women attained great fame in the world of today's antiques. Mother Lee, an Englishwoman, founded the Shaker religion. By her examples and edict she influenced the simple Shaker style of design. Maria Longsworth Nichols was the most famous of several women who founded art pottery factories during the late 19th century. Her Rookwood ware gained international fame.

Shirley Temple mugs and bowls have again become newsworthy. The mugs are of a cobalt blue glass with white pictures of Shirley. Since Shirley Temple Black has become a member of the United States United Nations delegation, collectors are searching for the glassware of the 1930s. The glass was given away by General Mills, Inc. of Minneapolis, Minn. The pitcher was put in the Wheaties box in 1936.

ABBY

listen to parents

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Although I am not quite 16, I am very mature for my age. (I have been mistaken for 21 many times.) I am in love with a 25-year-old guy, but I have to see him behind my parents' back because they hate him without even knowing him.

You see, he was married to a no good tramp and had two children with her, and his divorce is not yet final, and my folks don't want me going with a guy who has that kind of background. Abby, you've got to believe me. He is really a wonderful guy. That messed up marriage was HER fault, not his.

Please tell me how I can get my parents to just MEET him and judge him for what he is.

IN LOVE

DEAR IN LOVE: Assuming the man IS blameless, I am wondering what kind of "wonderful" 25-year-old guy, not yet divorced, would knowingly see a "not quite 16-year-old girl" behind her parents' back. I would have to say that he must be something less than wonderful. Listen to your parents.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I became friendly with some new neighbors about our age and we like them a lot. We have children the ages of their children.

The only problem is that they will call us and say, "Why don't you feed your kids early and we'll do the same with ours, and then come on over and have supper with us."

We have four kids and they have three. They always manage to get rid of theirs, but we don't like to get rid of ours. We prefer being invited out as a family. Our children are not monsters, Abby, and we enjoy family type parties—kids and all.

Do you think it is right of this couple to want only US and not our kids? When we invite them, we always include their children, but they say "We've had enough of kids all day. Let's make this an ADULT party." What is your opinion?

LIKES KIDS

DEAR LIKES: My opinion is that you had better find friends who share your enthusiasm for "family-type parties—kids and all." Your new neighbors do not. It doesn't necessarily mean that they are "wrong." Or that you are. To each his own.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SOLVENT IN SAVANNAH: Money isn't everything. Sometimes it's not even enough.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Ultra-Fashionable Beauty Salon Has A Pick-Up And Deliver Plan

Few beauty salons have a pick-up and delivery service or an assembly line technique nor do they quiet nervous customers with dog biscuits. Unless they have a strictly canine clientele, of course.

The cost of canine beauty however, is somewhat comparable to that of the beautiful people. There is an $8 special which includes shampoo and pedicure, but if one wants the extras — like special rinses to bring out natural shading — the tab goes up.

One discoverer of the fact that the beauty business is by no means confined to human consumption is Suzette, owner of Suzette's Poodle Groomette.

Her establishment, located in fashionable surburban Maryland, is one of the most elite of canine beauty salons. Most of the human customers behind Suzette's canine ones are Maryland business executives, but one usually reliable source has it that a certain canine who frequents the shop resides at one of the best-known addresses in Washington. But, this is privileged information!

Suzette claims that poodles are easier to work with than people. "Our steady customers," Suzette says, "are accustomed to their monthly or bimonthly visits. They look forward to their day in the salon and when the truck pulls up to pick them up at their owner's home, they run out to meet it!

"Their reactions are just priceless," Suzette exclaimed. "Some of the poodles resent having too much hair taken off. They actually get embarrassed and we're told they hide when they get home. But most of them know they've been beautified. They'll prance around and a few are simply fascinated by their image in a mirror."

Working with an average of 30 dogs a day, the "babying" begins with a thorough washing with notear baby shampoo, especially useful in cleansing around the eyes and on sensitive-skinned poodles. Clipping is so individualized that each operator specializes in one area, such as face or feet. Suzette trains all her "beauticians," most of whom are housewives in the Rockville, Maryland area. "It's a very complex skill to develop," she noted. "You have to learn to clip each part of the poodle differently and it takes years to master every aspect of their grooming."

After drying and their "comb out," baby powder is highly applied under the eyes or on any other areas that are spotted. Cologne and ribbons finish the job and all that is required until the next session is regular combing and brushing at home.

The 8 basic clips used at the Groomette are varied at the owner's request, but generally the poodles are clipped short in summer, fuller in winter. Owners who travel quite a bit or winter in Florida, prefer shorter styles to keep the coat from getting shaggy when the air is humid.

Secretaries Plan Dinner

Members of the Lincoln Legal Secretaries Association will gather for a dinner meeting on Thursday evening at the Lincoln Hotel.

Speaker for the 7 o'clock meeting will be Dr. Gordon F. Culver, chairman of the Department of Business Teacher Education at the University of Nebraska. His topic will be "Polish Your Performance With Professionalism".

Parties For Bride

Making announcement this morning of the members of her bridal party is Miss Margaret Ann Hauser, daughter of Mrs. Annie Hauser of Lincoln and Raymond Hauser, Jr. of David City, whose marriage to Ronald J. Divis will be an event of Friday evening, April 3.

For the 5:30 o'clock ceremony, which will be solemnized at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Miss Hauser has named Miss Carol Edstrom as her honor attendant. Serving as bridesmaids will be Miss Ann Hudson and Miss Sandra Svoboda.

Gary Divis will serve his brother as best man, and the groomsmen will be Bernard Divis and Richard Hauser, brother of the bride-elect. Wayne Divis of David City, brother of the bridegroom-elect, and Joseph Vlock of Omaha will seat the guests.

Miss Pamela Timms and Miss Deena Timms will serve as flowergirls, and Randal Timms will be the ring bearer.

On Sunday evening, March 8, the soon-to-be bride was the guest of honor at a prenuptial courtesy which took place at the home of Mrs. Harold Edstrom. Miss Carol Edstrom served as assistant hostess at the party which was attended by friends and family members. During the informal evening the guests presented Miss Hauser with a linen shower.

The bride-elect will be honored at another courtesy which will take place Sunday afternoon, March 15, in David City. Hostesses for the party will be members of the groom's family, and the guests will present Miss Hauser with a miscellaneous shower.

Dble	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥

Opening lead — king of diamonds.

You generally break even by swapping one loser for another, but there are times when the exchange gains a trick.

South got to four hearts on the bidding shown. His double was for takeout and showed that the opening heart bid was based on more than minimum values. North could do no more than show his heart support and South eventually bid game.

West started with the K-A of diamonds. Declarer ruffed, cashed the A-K of spades, and trumped a spade in dummy. He then led the ten of hearts and followed low, quite naturally crediting West with the ace for his overcall.

West won with the ace and, knowing from the earlier fall of the queen that East had no more spades, returned the jack of spades. Declarer ruffed in dummy, was overruffed by East, and later lost a club to go down one.

South had played the hand correctly up to the point when he had ruffed the jack of spades in dummy. This was a serious error, since it was a certainty that East had no more spades and would overruff.

South should have discarded a club from dummy instead. Had he done this, he would have made the contract.

The reasoning behind the club discard is simple enough. South knows that he must go down if he ruffs, but that he has a chance for the contract if he discards a club. He therefore swaps his club loser for the spade loser.

In the actual case, the refusal to ruff the spade gains a trick. Whatever West plays next, South can trump the third round of clubs in dummy and wind up with ten tricks. He loses a diamond, a heart and a spade.

SPORT SIGNALS

By Hal Brown
Sports Editor, The Star

Balance Gone, But . . .

One of the goals of the Big Eight in recent years has been to achieve balance in all its sports programs.

It has accomplished this in football by bringing the Seven Dwarfs up to the caliber of Oklahoma. It has done it in basketball by bringing perennial top ten members Kansas and Kansas State down to the mediocre level of the Nebraskas, Missouris and Colorados.

The football balance has resulted in a tremendous upsurge in the esteem in which Big Eight football is held nationally.

In basketball, it's a different matter. The Big Eight hasn't been able to get by the first round of NCAA regional competition for two years now and isn't likely to make it this year, either.

Basketball in the Big Eight the past three or four years has been balanced, but it's been balanced not because everyone was equally good, but rather because everyone was equally bad.

There once was a time when you could find one or two Big Eight teams ranked in the top 10 every week and upsetting one of them was cause for a demonstration that would make those anti-war marches look like a Boy Scout hike.

Now you can't even find a Big Eight team in the top 20.

Back To Top Ten

But this may have been the last year of balanced badness in Big Eight basketball.

Beginning next season you may see in the Big Eight a couple of super teams again and a half dozen so-so's instead of eight so-so's.

Kansas returns practically everyone, losing only Chet Lawrence from among the group that saw much action this season. Returning are Dave Robisch, Roger Brown, Bob Kivisto, Aubrey Nash, Pierre Russell and Bud Stallworth.

Now if that team isn't able to crack the top ten next season, the Big Eight ought to be declared a basketball disaster zone and put on relief.

There should be no one even close enough to be considered chasers of the Jayhawks although this year's champion Kansas State returns big men David Hall and Bob Zender along with Terry Snyder and Eddie Smith.

But K-State coach Cotton Fitzsimmons loses Wheeler Hughes, Jeff Webb, David Lawrence and Jerry Venable.

Colorado, probably the best cast of players in the league this year but not the best team because you must play together to be a team, returns Cliff Meely, Dudley Mitchell and Jim Creighton, but loses Gordon Tope and Mike Coleman.

Oklahoma like everyone but Kansas returns some key people, but also loses some important ones. The Sooners get back Bobby Jack, Scott Martin and Charles Hardin, but lose Garfield Heard.

Missouri loses everything, but Henry Smith. Gone from the Tiger squad will be Don Tomlinson, Theo Franks, Pete Helmbock, Doug Johnson, Chuck Kundert and Dave Pike.

Huskers Still Mediocre

Nebraska, with the exception of Kansas, returns as many people as anyone, but the Huskers can be expected to continue to be a mediocre team with inconsistency as a trademark, an inconsistency that could very well be caused by never knowing who's going to be in the lineup from one second to another.

The Huskers get back Leroy Chalk, Chuck Jura, Al Nissen, Mike Petersen and possibly Cliff Moller and Marv Stewart.

But if you can't win the Big Eight when the league is on the down cycle, how are you going to win it against someone good enough to be in the top 10?

Oh well, spring football's only a month away.

Class A Will Crown New Champion In Omaha

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

A new Class A high school basketball king will be crowned in Omaha this weekend as the state tournament returns, after a two-year absence, to the Metro city.

Defending champion Creighton Prep is among the missing, though Lincoln Northeast, which captured the title in 1967 and '68 will be on hand again, representing the Capital City for the sixth straight time.

Coach Ed Johnson's Rockets open the big school action with a noon encounter against Boys Town, while Scottsbluff and Omaha Benson play the other daytime game.

The two evening battles pit conference members against one another. Big Ten foes Hastings and Fremont tangle in the first night contest, with Metro powers Omaha Tech and North playing the feature clash.

A short look at each of this year's eight Class A entries:

LINCOLN NORTHEAST (15-3)

Johnson's cagers picked up win No. 293 for the veteran mentor by edging Lincoln East for the district title and gave him his 14th state tourney trip in 21 years.

Returning all-stater Tom Novak, who was joined this past week on the all-city team by Maury Damkroger, along with John Strain, Greg Wright and Jim Sinner are expected to combine to make up Northeast's starting five.

The Rockets didn't play first round foe Boys Town this year, but did edge Omaha Benson, another top bracket entry, 57-54. In turn, Benson topped Boys Town by six, 60-54.

BOYS TOWN (14-7)

Coach George Pfeifer takes a Cowboy quintet to the state tournament for the eighth time in 11 years.

A pair of performers named Tyrone have been the key to Boys Town's success this winter. Tyrone Pryor, a 6-6 senior from Cleveland, and 6-2 junior Tyrone Freeman from Chicago.

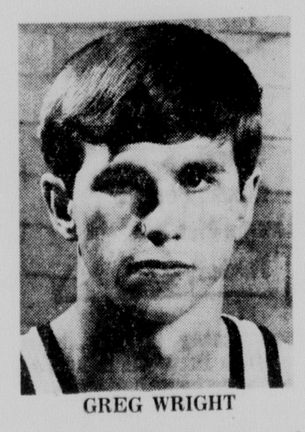
Pryor poured in 451 points this winter, averaging over 21 points a game, while Freeman was the next highest scorer, followed by Phil Whitworth, Dave Bordovsky and Mike Anzures.

SCOTTSBLUFF (16-3)

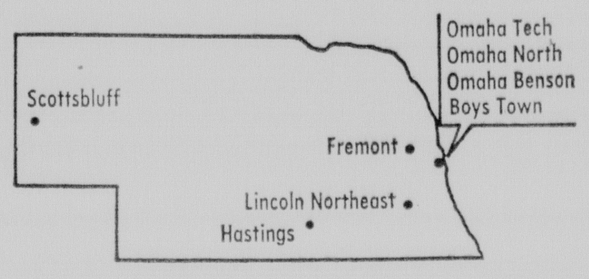
The Bearcats lost only two regular season games, to high-powered Laramie and Class A Kearney, before being edged by state tourney entry Fremont for the Big Ten Conference crown, 55-51 at Fremont.

Dave Nuss, at 6-9, gives coach Jan Wall, a Lincoln Northeast product, plenty of height around the boards, while 6-0 Rick Brown is Scottsbluff's top point producer.

Northeast and Scottsbluff victories in the opening round would produce a teacher-pupil clash in the semis between Johnson and Wall.



GREG WRIGHT



OMAHA BENSON (16-6)

The Bunnies of coach Don Knauss were seeded No. 3 despite a less favorable overall record than unseeded teams Scottsbluff or Omaha North.

But Benson, behind the play of 6-8 center Larry Seger and driving 5-9 guard Gary Puncochar, topped North and top-seeded Omaha Tech during the regular season.

Bob Allen (5-10) is the Bunnies top outside shooter, with 6-5 forward Steve Rohwer also along the front line.

HASTINGS (5-13)

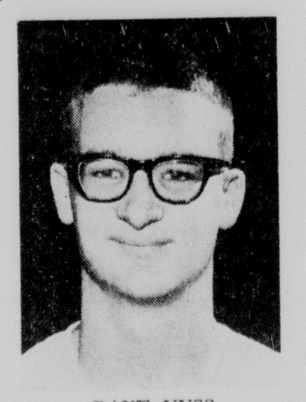
Coach Jim Smith's club lost their first eight and never did record a victory outside of their own district. The Tigers topped Kearney, Grand Island and Beatrice during the regular season and then Kearney and Beatrice again for the state tourney berth.

It was Smith's fifth straight state tourney team and the 10th for Hastings in 11 years.

John Jezek, a 6-0 senior, was Smith's only returning letterman this winter. Paul Thomas, a 6-7 junior up from the reserves, has shown great improvement, while another junior, Jeff O'Donnel has become the Tigers top scorer.

FREMONT (16-4)

The two sons of coach Al Bahe, junior Ritch and senior Butch, are two of Fremont's most dependable performers.



DAVE NUSS

Don Dyson, Rick Hermansen and Al Johnson are three others to watch during the state tourney.

Fremont split with district foe Columbus during the year and lost its other three to Lincoln clubs Northeast and East, plus Omaha Westside.

OMAHA NORTH (15-5)

Against the other three Omaha state tourney entries, coach Bob Murray's club is 1-2. The Vikings bombed Boys Town by 20 points, but lost to Benson by seven and Tech, their opening round opponent, 67-62.

Wayne Piper, 6-9 center, and 6-3 Jack Amick, who moved into a starting role at mid-season, give North plenty of height.

Sharpshooting Ken Patterson, Karl Webb and Jim O'Dell are others who could take North all the way if they can get by Tech this time.

OMAHA TECH (16-4)

The Trojans were given the No. 1 seed. It possibly came, despite a poorer record than Lincoln Northeast, on the strength of a ten-point victory over Lincoln East, while Northeast was extended into overtime against the same club for its district title.

The crashing board play of Dave Benning, Everett Billups and Joe Hodges and the leadership by guards Bill Newby and Curtis Cotton will make Tech tough to beat.

Benning, a returning regular from last season, was the Trojans season-long leading scorer. He had 21 points in the district finals, with Billups adding 13 more.

The Guilford squad held 6-9 Dave Schneider to only two points. Schneider, a senior center, fouled out in the second half.

Wayne was eliminated from the tournament by the single loss.

It was the seventh NAIA Tournament appearance in Kansas City without a victory for the Wayne club.

Guilford College took its 26th consecutive victory in the opening round.

In Tuesday's other games, Stephen F. Austin, the nation's top-ranked small college basketball team and top-seeded in the tournament, defeated South Carolina State College 100-86.

Five players scored in double figures for the Austin Lumberjacks. They were paced by 6-foot-6 Ervin Polnick with 23 points. Harvey Huffstetler, 6-7 guard, added 20 and George Johnson, 7-foot reserve center, had 19.

Johnny Carey paced the scrappy Bulldogs from Orangeburg, S.C., with 33 points, but the Texans hit 40 of 80 shots for 50 per cent and dominated the rebounding for the victory.

Ninth-seeded Easte Michioan posted the highest score of the tournament when it outmanned East Central Oklahoma, 108-85, and Morris Harvey, W.Va., defeated Weste N New England, 99-76.

G. E. Buenning tossed in 23 points and Virg Erickson added 20 as 14th-seeded Wartburg, (Iowa) downed Northern State (S.D.) 91-73. Gary Evjen hit 30 for Northern State. Central Washington dropped St. Benedict's of Kansas, 77-65, in another first-round game.

Fourth-seeded Kentucky State defeated Illinois Wesleyan, 64-56, after breaking away from a 24-24 tie early in the second half Tuesday night.

Kentucky State hit 27 of 45 shots from the floor for a hot 60 per cent. Tom Gramkow paced Illinois Wesleyan with 17 points.

Earle Higgins, the game's leading scorer with 27 points, tossed in 17 as Eastern Michigan built up a 60-36 halftime margin. East Central actually outscored the Hurons 49-48 in the second half but the damage had been done.

Kennedy McIntosh had 21 points and Earl Dixon added 19 for Eastern Michigan. Larry Hardeman's 25 was high for the Oklahomans.

Morris Harvey, W.Va. grabbed an early lead, dominated the boards and substituted freely in the second half as it defeated Western New England.

In Monday's action, Eastern New Mexico whisked past Whittier, Calif., 80-66 in its opening test of the tournament while Central Ohio brushed off St. Thomas, Minn., in the second half, 69-60.

Maryland State, the 1969 runnerup to Eastern New Mexico, also scored a victory Monday, crushing California, Pa., State, 101-67.

Maravich, Lanier Top UPI 1970 All-American Balloting

New York (UPI) — Pete Maravich, greatest scorer in major college basketball history, and Bob Lanier, rated the best big man in the collegiate ranks this season, were the top vote-getters in the 1969-70 United Press International all-America squad balloting announced Tuesday.

Maravich, the Louisiana State University standout who led the Tigers to their best season in 16 years while becoming the most prolific scorer in major college history with a three-year career total of 3,590 points and a 46.6 average this season, was named on 549 of the record 556 ballots received from UPI subscribers.

With scoring two points for a first place vote and one for a second place, Maravich tallied 1,083 points.

Lanier, the 6-11 giant for St. Bonaventure, received 1,003 points. The Buffalo, N.Y., senior led the Bonnies into the NCAA playoffs with a 30-point average.

Other spots on the first team went to Dan Issel of tournament-bound Kentucky, Rick Mount, the nation's No. 3 scorer from Purdue and little Calvin Murphy of Niagara.

Issel, a 6-8 senior from Batavia, Ill., received 921 points; Mount, a 6-4 senior from Lebanon, Ind., and the Big Ten Conference's top scorer, had 733 points in the balloting.

Murphy, smallest man on the all-America squad at 5-10, got 658 points. The senior from Norwalk, Conn., averaged 30 points a game in leading the Purple Eagles into the NCAA playoffs.

The second team consisted of Notre Dame's Austin Carr, the No. 2 scorer this season; Charlie Scott of North Carolina; 7-2 Artis Gilmore of Jacksonville; John Roche of South Carolina and Rudy Tomjanovich of Michigan.

On the third team were UCLA teammates Sidney Wicks and John Vallely, Mike Maloy of Davidson, John Johnson of Iowa and Rich Yunkus of Georgia Tech.

Heading the players on the honorable mention list were Jim McMillian of Columbia and Howard Porter of Villanova.

Maravich pumped in 1,304 points this season in surpassing Oscar Robertson's 2,973 total in becoming the most prolific scorer the game has ever known.

But the ability to shoot isn't the only talent of the young man whose father, Press Maravich, is the LSU coach.

Many pro scouts have said Maravich will make it in the pros on his ball handling, passing and court wizardry. The 6-5 senior who thinks shooting is sometimes boring, could land more than a million dollars when he joins the pros.

Lanier led St. Bonaventure to a 23-1 record and hit a season single-game high of 50 in the Holiday Festival Tournament in New York. The 265-pound center is known for his ability to go for the basket.

Issel was the big gun in Kentucky's balanced attack as the top-ranked Wildcats posted a 25-1 mark in winning the Southeastern Conference title and another trip to the NCAA playoffs. He averaged 33.7 points a game.

New York (AP) — John Rinka, the Pistol Pete of the small colleges, heads the 1970 Little All-American college basketball team named Tuesday by The Associated Press.

It was the second straight year that the diminutive 5-foot-9 sharpshooter for Kenyon, College of Gambier, Ohio, dominated the voting for the team by 106 sports writers and broadcasters.

Like Pistol Pete Maravich of Louisiana State in the major category, Rinka has scored more than 3,000 points in his career. He has an average of 41 per game and is well on his way to winning the small college scoring title two years in a row. He polled 57 first team votes in the balloting. No one else came close.

'Jets' Sale Needs Only NFL Okay'

New York (AP) — The sale of the New York Jets to a syndicate supposedly including Allie Sherman, awaits only formal approval of the National Football League, a team official said Tuesday.

"Details have been worked out and now it's up to the league directors at the meeting in Honolulu next week," said Townsend Martin, chairman of the board of the New York team. The pro owners open their winter business meeting Monday in Hawaii.

Philip H. Iselin, the president and chief executive officer, could not be reached immediately for comment.

However, when reports of the prospective sale came out last month, Iselin was quoted as saying:

"Negotiations have been going on."

At the time, it was said that the reported purchaser was a group headed by Steven J. Ross, the president of Kinney National Services who was said to be planning to bring in Sherman as the executive officer and possible head coach.

Sherman is the former coach of the New York Giants, who was replaced last season by Alex Webster.

Contacted on the report, Sherman said he was considering several professional football propositions but would not describe them further.

Weeb Ewbank, the general manager-coach who led the Jets to the world professional championship in 1969, signed a new contract last year. Its terms and duration were not disclosed.

Iselin, acknowledging negotiations for sale of the franchise, said the matter of coaching contracts and the name of Sherman had not been brought up.

"As far as I am concerned, Ewbank still has a contract," he said.

Robish Honored As League Player Of Year, All-Big Eight

By Associated Press

Dave Robisch played third fiddle to Cliff Meely and Bill Cain in his sophomore basketball season at the Usiversity of Kansas, but he moved up to the lead chair in 1970.

Robisch, the Jayhawks' 6-foot-9 junior center from Springfield, Ill., displaced Meely as Big Eight scoring leader and Tuesday was named the conference's player-of-the-year by The Associated Press.

Ironically, Meely didn't get one vote for the honor he claimed in 1969 as a sophomore. The 6-foot-8 Colorado forward-center had been an overwhelming choice in 1969 when he led the Buffaloes to the Big Eight championship.

Cain, Iowa State's 6-6 center who got some support for player-of-the year in '69, also failed to get a vote this time,

Robisch won the award hands down. He was named on three of the eight coaches ballots and on 30 of 32 newsmen's ballots.

Some coaches gave their support to Jerry Venable, who led Kansas State to this year's title, Garfield Heard of Oklahoma and Gordon Tope of Colorado.

Robisch also led the vote-getting for the 1970 Associated Press all-Big Eight team, also announced Tuesday. He was a unanimous pick.

Meely just narrowly missed being unanimous for the all-conference team, while Heard was the third strongest vote-getter.

Rounding out the first five were Cain and Venable.

The first team is made up of two centers and three forwards, and averages 6 feet, 7 inches. Robisch, Meely and Cain are repeaters from the 1969 AP team.

Picked to the second team were Tope, Tom Scantlebury of Nebraska, Don Tomlinson of Missouri, Bob Zender of Kansas State and Pierre Russell of Kansas.

Tomlinson was a first-team selection a year ago.

Selected for honorable mention were David Hall and Wheeler Hughes of Kansas State, Scott Martin and Clifford Ray of Oklahoma, Henry Smith and David Pike of Missouri, Bob Buck and Rick Cooper of Oklahoma State, Aaron Jenkins of Iowa State, Leroy Chalk of Nebraska, Jim Creighton of Colorado and Bud Stallworth of Kansas.

Tope was a second-team choice last year, also. Slipping from second-team recognition to receive honorable mention this year were Aaron Jenkins of Iowa State and David Pike of Missouri.

Oddly, it was another Kansas State player, Steve Honeycutt, who won a first-team berth last year, bumping Tope to the second team. This year, the Wildcats' Jerry Venable did the same thing.

Zender is a sophomore, Russell a junior and the other three seniors.

First Team

Dave Robisch, Kansas, 6-9, junior.
Cliff Meely, Colorado, 6-8, junior
Garfield Heard, Oklahoma, 6-6, senior
Bill Cain, Iowa State, 6-6, senior
Jerry Venable, Kansas State, 6-5, senior

Second Team

Gordon Tope, Colorado, 5-11, senior
Tom Scantlebury, Nebraska, 6-2, senior
Don Tomlinson, Missouri, 6-4, senior
Bob Zender, Kansas State, 6-7, sophomore
Pierre Russell, Kansas, 6-3, junior

Honorable Mention

David Hall and Wheeler Hughes, Kansas State; Scott Martin and Clifford Ray, Oklahoma; Henry Smith and David Pike, Missouri; Bud Stallworth, Kansas; Aaron Jenkins, Iowa State; Bob Buck and Rick Cooper, Oklahoma State; Leroy Chalk, Nebraska; Jim Creighton, Colorado.

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — Kansas' Dave Robisch, the league's leading scorer, and Colorado's Cliff Meely were unanimous selections Tuesday to the 1969-70 all-Big Eight basketball team announced by United Press International.

Also named to the first five were Garfield Heard of Oklahoma, Iowa State's Bill Cain and Bob Zender of Kansas State.

Robisch was also a near-unanimous choice as the league's player of the year. Zender was voted sophomore of the year and Cotton Fitzsimmons, who guided K-State to the league championship, was honored as Big Eight coach of the year.

Robisch, Meely and Cain were all repeaters from last year's first team. Gordon Tope of Colorado, a first-team choice a year ago, headed the second team, which also included K-State's Jerry Venable, Missouri's Don Tomlinson, Nebraska's Tom Scantlebury and Pierre Russell of Kansas.

First Team

Dave Robisch, Kansas, 6-9, Jr.; Cliff Meely, Colorado, 6-8, Jr.; Garfield Heard, Oklahoma, 6-6, Sr.; Bill Cain, Iowa State, 6-6, Sr.; Bob Zender, Kansas State, 6-8, Soph.

'69 Runnerup Cozad Seeks Undefeated Class B Mark

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

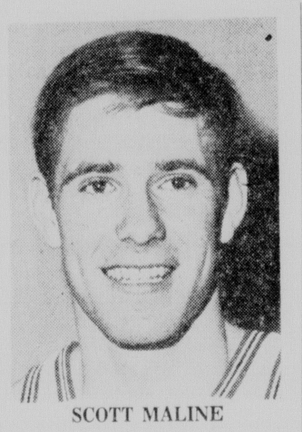
Cozad, runnerup a year ago, will be trying to add to its 19-game winning streak while going all the way to the title when the state Class B high school basketball tournament opens in Lincoln Thursday.

The Haymakers have a veteran crew returning under coach Bill Ramsay.

In the championship game against Crete last March, all 64 Cozad points were scored by underclassmen

The Haymakers' stiffest test is expected to come from No. 2 seeded Laurel, the winner of the opening round Schuyler-Fairbury clash or Cozad's first foe, Omaha Paul VI, although fourth-seeded Valentine could be a surpriser.

Cozad edged Valentine, 68-66



SCOTT MALINE

during the regular campaign. Valentine's other two losses came to out-of-state schools, as the Badgers played six of their games against South Dakota quintets.

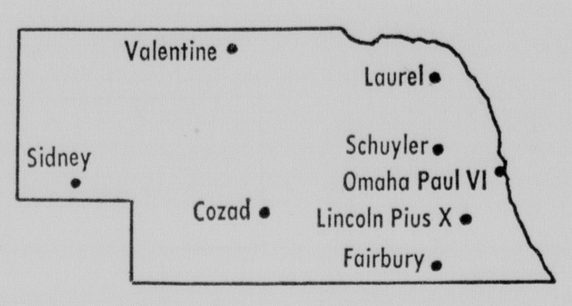
A closer look at the eight tourney teams:

LAUREL (23-1)

Coach Larry Moore's Bears registered four wins over state tournament teams during the regular season, a trouncing of Norfolk Catholic and a pair of victories over Bloomfield, both from Class C, and an important victory over Schuyler for the Wayne State Holiday tournament title.

Erwin and Schroeder are the names to watch for when Laurel plays in the state tournament this weekend.

Steve Erwin is a 6-6 junior center, while Rod Erwin (6-0) runs the team from his guard position. George Schroeder, a 6-3 sophomore, and Jim Schroeder, 6-0, play the forward spots.



LINCOLN PIUS X (5-15)

Coach Don Kelley brings the most deceiving record of any team into the state tournament. His Thunderbolts only won two regular season games before sweeping three contests and the district title.

But Pius X counts Class A state tourney entries Lincoln Northeast, Fremont and Boys Town among its foes, plus Creighton Prep and a host of other powerhouse ball clubs.

Capital City honor roll all-stars Dan McCabe and John Louden, plus Dan McGovern, Larry Jablonski, Ray Coniglio and Jim Wilkinson are a few of the 'Bolts to watch.

SCHUYLER (18-2)

Coach Jay Muma brings a Warrior team to the state tournament for the fifth time in a row. State champs two years ago, Schuyler was upset in the opening round last March.

All-stater Gene Harmon (6-6) will set a record when he steps on the floor as a starter for a team in four consecutive state meets.

Steve Bailey, Dan Jura, Ron Jarecki and Duane Spale are the other likely starters for the Warriors.

FAIRBURY (19-2)

A ninth-grader who hopes that some day he'll equal Harmon's feat of coming to four consecutive state tournaments is Fairbury's Bob Siegel.

The 14-year-old freshman pumped in 21 points in his very first game of the year and has been amazing everyone who has seen him ever since.

Coach Charles Moore's talented Jeffs also feature the play of sophomore brother Tom Siegel (6-2), Ron and Tom Rosener, 6-5 center Tom Gunlicks and 6-4 Gene Parks, both juniors.

SIDNEY (9-12)

New Red Raiders coach Don Christjans club won its last regular season game and then three straight in the district tournament to capture a berth in the state tourney after dropping 12 of their first 17.

But the spectacular finish, behind the play of fast-improving 6-5 junior Tom O'Connell makes Sidney a definite threat.

Other names to watch include Mike O'Holleran (6-0), John Kniceley (6-2), Mike Selzer (6-5) and Chuck Wait (6-1).

VALENTINE (19-3)

Coach Cliff Jacobs' Badgers only lost one game to a Nebraska team, and that to Class B's only unbeaten quintet, Cozad, by a narrow 68-66 count.

Tom Elliott and Jim Fisher, a pair of 5-11 seniors, were both starters for Valentine a year ago.

Another veteran is 6-2 junior forward Blaine Harris, Valentine's leading scorer and rebounder last season.

OMAHA PAUL VI (15-4)

The surprising Hawks of coach Frank Pecha came within an eyelash of making the big show a year ago and with a team full of tested veterans, qualified in convincing fashion this time.

Dennis Riley, Ken Meyer and Kevin Biga all were regulars last season when the Hawks made the district finals.

This winter Paul VI was edged by Omaha Cathedral, 67-64, in regular season play, but avenged that loss by smothering Cathedral, 64-41, to take the district title and a state tourney berth.

COZAD (19-0)

Class B's only unbeaten team was the runnerup at the state tournament last year. Coach Ramsay doesn't have much height, but makes up for that with quickness and a tough defense.

When the Haymakers won their district final against Lexington, 82-64, all but two of the points were scored by players who were on the state tourney team a year ago.

Cozad was led in that game by Scott Maline, who had 25 points, Kevin Kissel and Mike Sitorius with 15 each, Jack Lawless, 13, and Pat Sitorius with 10.

The Haymakers won the Class B state football championship this fall. After 19 straight wins they'll be favored to add the hoop crown to their trophy case collection.

Senators Claim Fourth Straight Win

By Associated Press

A ninth inning rally by Washington sent the streaking Senators to their fourth consecutive victory, a 6-4 triumph over the New York Yankees Tuesday.

Bernie Allen capped the three-run uprising, slapping a bases-loaded two-out single, wiping out the Yanks 4-3 lead as two Senators scored. Mike Epstein later came in on an error.

California snapped a four-game winning streak by San Francisco, stopping the Giants 10-0 on five hits, including a double by Willie Mays. The Angels rapped Giants starter Rich Robertson for seven hits and four runs in four innings. Alex Johnson and Tom Egan had doubles for the winners.

A three-game winning string by Detroit was ended by the world champion New York Mets, who rallied for a 5-4 victory over the Tigers. Duffy Dyer's two-run eighth-inning double put the Mets on top. Willie Horton had a home run for the Tigers.

Lou Brock, hitting a torrid .583 and Carl Taylor a .615 belter this spring, each clubbed two hits and scored two runs apiece, leading the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 victory over Los Angeles.

Dave Johnson and Ellie Hendricks cracked homers in leading a 13-hit Baltimore assault in the Orioles 9-1 triumph over Montreal. Johnson also slammed a double while Brooks Robinson, Don Buford and Paul Blair each had two hits for the American League champions.

Rookie catcher Randy Bobb's two-run sixth-inning homer gave the Chicago Cubs a 4-3 decision over San Diego. Billy Williams chipped in with a solo clout in the second inning for the winners.

The Chicago White Sox exploded for six runs in the sixth inning to beat the Philadelphia Phillies 9-3. Rich McKinney had a two-run single and Gail Hopkins and Charlie Bradford run-scoring hits in the big inning for the White Sox. Larry Hisle had a two-run homer for the Phils while Syd O'Brien rapped a solo shot for Chicago.

Darrel Chaney belted a grand slam home run for the Reds but Pittsburgh scored six times in the second inning for a 8-4 victory over the Pirates. Roberto Clemente had a three-run homer for the Pirates in their big inning, while Gene Alley homered in the third.

Rookie Ron Allen's second hit, a run-producing single, provided the edge as Cleveland whipped Oakland 3-2. Another rookie Mike Carruthers had knocked in the Indians second run with a single.

—CRONIN CANCELS MEETING—

Pilots' Fate Still Undecided; Opener In Only Four Weeks

Tampa, Fla. (AP) —A special American League meeting to consider the troubled Seattle franchise was called off abruptly Tuesday in a cloud of conflicting statements.

Joe Cronin, president of the league, announced that the postponement was made because of the illness of Cleveland's Bill Daley, the principal Seattle owner, who could not attend.

However, in Cleveland, Daley said he had entered the hospital only for a checkup and was under the impression the meeting would be held regardless.

He said he had designated Dewey Soriano, the club president, to represent him at the meeting and that he had felt certain the franchise would be shifted to Milwaukee.

"I think they kind of used me as an excuse to cancel the meeting," he said. "If I had known they were going to postpone it, I wouldn't have gone to the hospital."

Cronin said he would confer with league attorneys before setting a new date and site. He said it might be necessary to hold the meeting in Cleveland.

According to Cronin, Daley became ill over the weekend but there had been hopes he would be able to attend the meeting here. Rather than attempt to conduct negotiations with Daley, who holds the Seattle vote, via telephone to his hospital room, a postponement was decided on, the AL executive added.

With opening day only four weeks off, there have been persistent reports that the franchise might be moved to Milwaukee before the 1970 season. Milwaukee has an adequate park ready for operation and has been seeking a franchise since the Braves moved to Atlanta after the 1965 season.

Cronin hinted no definite action would have been taken even if the meeting had been held. The league was to have heard a report on all aspects of the Seattle situation from its special representative, Roy Hamey, who is on leave from his job as a New York Yankee scout.

The league voted a temporary loan of $650,000 to the Pilots, to help them through spring training, at a Feb. 11 meeting in Chicago. Some owners apparently had second thoughts about the financial advisability of propping up a weak franchise through an entire season in which losses could run as high as $1.7 million.

Seattle drew only 677,944 fans in an inadequate park last season although a bond issue has been passed for a $40 million domed stadium to be completed in 1973.

Cronin said he had not invited either Milwaukee or Dallas-Fort Worth representatives to attend the special meeting. Milwaukee interests had planned to be available and Dallas-Fort Worth people, also interested in the franchise, also were to be on call.

The possibility of law suits, challenging baseball's exemption from anti-trust laws, had been a factor in the Feb. 11 decision not to abandon Seattle after a one-year trial.

In Washington Monday, Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., said he would urge Congress to strip baseball of that exemption if it voted to move out of Seattle. Both Magnuson and Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., had sent telegrams to league officials and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn protesting a move.

In order to move a franchise nine club owners must vote in favor.

Ak-Sar-Ben Deadline Is Saturday

Omaha — General manager Tom Brock issued a reminder Tuesday to owners of Nebraska-bred horses that the deadline for nominating horses to five of Ak-Sar-Ben's Nebraska-bred stakes is Saturday.

"Nominations must be in the mail by midnight Saturday to be eligible for five of the six Nebraska-bred stakes," Brock said.

The six stakes, totaling $85,000 in added money, will be featured during Ak-Sar-Ben's 46-day meeting which is scheduled May 1 through July 4.

Saturday is the deadline for:

The $12,500-added Breeders' Sprint Stakes for three-year-olds; the $12,500-added Lassie Stakes for two-year-old fillies; the $12,500-added Laddie Stakes for two-year-old colts and geldings; the $20,000-added Futurity Stakes for two-year-olds and the $20,000-added Breeders' Special for three-year-olds.

Deadline for nominations to the $7,500-added Good Neighbor Stakes for three-year-olds is May 15.

Peru State Thinclads Eye Arkansas Relays

Peru—The 1970 Peru State College track team will begin outdoor competition on March 28 in the Arkansas Relays with a 24-member squad, according to head coach Jack McIntire.

Included in the squad will be seven lettermen — Dave Bierbaum, Griswold, Iowa; Bruce Brummer, Wilcox; Jay Hagerman, Humboldt; Mike Mulvaney, Independence, Iowa; Calvin Smith, Pacific Junction, Iowa; Ray Uher, Daykin; and Jack Weyers, Sterling.

$5,000-Added Race Planned At Fonner

Grand Island — The $5,000-added Nebraska Derby has become Fonner Park's most popular feature over the past two years and the 1970 renewal of the stake should be no exception.

The horsemen have lent their support to the three year old feature. A total of 40 sophomores are eligible to the race at this time. The enthusiastic exceptance of the race is almost certain to bring the gross value of the Derby to over $10,000.

Seven stakes winning three year olds have been nominated to the six and one half furlong stake. J. J. Corey's Navashane, Paul M. Kemling's Miss The Road, Felix Beda's Real Chance, and Lee Bevilacqua's Sound of Maye all accounted for stakes in Nebraska as two year olds.

Other added money winners are Dallas Munger's Dil Montego, LPB Stable's Phil Joy, and L. G. Ripley's Hebron Laddie. Phil Joy won three of four starts at Centennial Park last year including the Dinner Stakes and the Colorado Breeder's Futurity. Hebron Laddie won the Fleur de Lis Stakes in Canada while Dil Montego gained his added money triumph in South Dakota.

Marion H. Van Berg of Columbus nominated six head to the Nebraska Derby. The nation's leading owner has kept four of his better three year olds eligible to the race. The quartet that is still eligible for the race include Gallant Notion, British Ross, Dawn Comet, and Mrs. Van.

British Ross is a well-bred colt by Nivrag out of the stakes-winning mare Estacion. The homebred sophomore won an allowance race earlier this year at the Fairgrounds in New Orleans and was considered one of the leading contenders in the Louisiana Derby until a recent injury put him on the shelf. At this time it is doubtful if he will be ready for either the Louisiana or Nebraska derbies.

Ken Opstein, who won the 1969 edition of the race with Two Bobbs, has nominated two three year olds to the Derby. Those named by the South Sioux City horseman were Kooku Rooku and Sidewinder.

Final supplemental nominations on the Nebraska Derby will be accepted by payment of $150 on or before March 19.

. . . NEW COLLEGE CHAMPION TO BE CROWNED

Evansville, Ind. (AP) — South Dakota State and Philadelphia Textile, only nationally ranked teams in the quarter-final field, are slight favorites in the NCAA College Division Basketball Tournament opening today.

The tourney, held at Roberts Stadium since its inception in 1957, could be packed with surprises.

Only one thing is certain: There will be a new champion. Kentucky Wesleyan, winner of three of the last four titles, didn't even make the regionals.

Six of the eight regional survivors have NCAA playoff tournament experience. The other two, California Riverside and St. Joseph's Indiana, are making their first appearance in the NCAA tourney setup. And, as the draw would have it, these two rookie teams meet in the opening round.

The first round pairings include:

1 p.m. CST — Buffalo State Bengals 21-3 vs. Stetson Hatters of Deland, Fla. 22-6.

2:45 p.m. — Philadelphia Textile Rams 26-2 vs. American Inter-national Yellowjackets, Springfield, Mass. 17-7.

7 p.m. — Tennessee State Tigers 19-7 vs. South Dakota State Jackrabbits 22-3.

8:45 p.m. — California Riverside Highlanders 17-9 vs. St. Joseph's Pumas, Rensselaer, Ind., 21-5.

Semifinals will be Thursday night with the third-place and championship games Friday night. Textile, American International, California Riverside and St. Joseph's are in the upper bracket and the others in the lower.

Thus, the two ranked teams, No. 9 South Dakota State and No. 12 Textile, are in opposite brackets.

Negro College Fund Benefit Has Player

Pensacola, Fla. (AP) — Gary Player, whose native South Africa has a national policy of apartheid, volunteered Tuesday to play exhibition golf matches with American black professionals with the proceeds to the United Negro College Fund.

"I want to do this as concrete physical evidence to support statements I had made," Player said.

Player, 33, one of the world's premier golf professionals, had issued a statement Monday pleading that "politics be absolved from sports."

Player is here for the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament, the first stop on his American tour this season.

Player mentioned leading American Negro professionals Charlie Sifford, Pete Brown and Lee Elder as possible opponents for the exhibitions between regular weekly tournaments.

He said his business manager, Mark McCormack of Cleveland already is working on such an arrangement.

Player, one of the four golfers to win the Big Four professional titles, issued a statement in which he said, in part: "I wish there were some way in which people all over the world could persuade politicians and protesters that sports should be above politics."

Later in the statement, Player said: "I will not criticize my country outside of South Africa itself any more than an American would criticize America when away from home. Meanwhile, I am most grateful to be back in the United States to follow my profession — to play golf — and I do not feel I can offer any further political comment."

Player said that U.S. Open champion Orville Moody had volunteered to join him in the exhibition matches.

Player, whose last victory in this nation was the 1969 Tournament of Champions, was the target of protesters' attempts to disrupt the PGA National Championship last summer.

Jockey Fees Agreed Upon By Horsemen

Grand Island (AP) — Representatives of the Rocky Mountain Division, Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association and the Jockey Guild reported Tuesday they had reached an agreement on new riding fees for all division race tracks for the 1970 season.

Under terms of the agreement, horsemen campaigning in Nebraska, Colorado and South Dakota, the states that make up the division, will pay jockeys aboard winning mounts "10 per cent of the horse owner's share in any race."

Wayne Davidson, president of the horsemen, and Al Popara of the Jockey Guild also came to terms on upgrading the jockey fees for stock placing behind the winners. In most cases, they will range from boosts of $2 to $5, depending on the size of the purse.

Nebraska opens its 1970 racing season March 20 at Fonner Park in Grand Island. Fonner Park General Manager Al Swihart said he was happy the situation was ironed out ahead of the meet.

Mizzou Matmen Invade Nebraska

Nebraska meets Missouri at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in a dual wrestling meet at the Coliseum after an earlier tilt was postponed due to bad weather.

Indianapolis, Ind. (AP) — James Dunn, commissioner of the shrunken Continental Football League, announced Tuesday he has resigned effective March 31.

Dunn, commissioner of the five-year-old league only one season, said he had no immediate plans.

The league operated last fall with three divisions, each having five full-fledged members, plus the Texas Football League which operated as a fourh division.

Of the 15 full members, only Sacramento, Seattle, Spokane, and Omaha are left.

Howard Signs Lucrative Contract With Senators

Pompano Beach, Fla. (AP) — Slugging Frank Howard of the Washington Senators, at 6-foot-7 and 275 pounds the biggest player in the American League, signed a contract to match his physical stature Tuesday with a one-year pact in the $125,000 neighborhood.

Appearing at the Senators' Pompano Beach training base with club owner Bob Short and manager Ted Williams, Howard said he compromised on his demand for the security of a two-year pact when the money in the one-year contract was sweetened.

"The contract makes Mr. Howard the highest paid player in the AL," said Short. "Frank has produced as a star over a period of years and is benig paid accordingly. We had a hang-up on the number of years in the contract, but we compromised in terms of money."

Neither Short nor Williams, in his capacity as club vice president, would divulge exact terms of the contract but Williams quipped:

"Now I know how a manager feels when a player makes twice as much as he does."

Howard, in reaching the $125,000 plateau, joins a select circle of American Leaguers. The only two other players reportedly making comparable money are outfielders Carl Yastrzemski of Boston and Frank Robinson of Baltimore.

Howard's lucrative contract rewarded him for his finest year in the majors, a year in which he hit 48 homers, drove in 111 runs, and batted .296 while making the most of the knowledge imparted by Williams.

"The big thing about Frank," Williams said, "is he accomplished what he had to to be a great ball player — get a good ball to hit."

'70-71 School Year To Start Aug. 31

August 31 will be the first day of school for students next year, the Lincoln Board of Education decided Tuesday.

Board members set the earliest starting date in the history of the district as they adopted a student calendar for 1970-71. The last day of school will be June 2.

The early starting date was the preference of both parents and teachers surveyed recently, it was reported.

180 Days

Students will attend classes 180 days during the school year.

No classes will be held on Oct. 29, 30 the dates slated for the Nebraska State Education Association, convention according to the adopted calendar. A teachers' calendar, indicating whether or not teachers will be paid during the two-day convention, will be presented to the board at a later date, it was indicated.

Teachers were not paid for the convention days for the first time last fall. Negotiators for the Lincoln Education Association have asked that the teachers be paid for the convention attendance or that classes be held on those days.

The student calendar provides for a Dec. 23-Jan. 3 Christmas vacation, April 9-12 spring vacation, Jan. 21, 22 mid-term break and holidays on Labor Day, Sept. 7, and Memorial Day, May 31.

Transfer Policy

In other business the school board was told that its policy adopted last year on transfer requests within the district had not significantly lowered the number of transfers granted.

Board members deferred action on changing the transfer policy, but indicated that transfers from crowded buildings to schools with available space will be encouraged and transfer requests granted on the basis of more "convenient" transportation will be reviewed closer.

On a 4-2 vote, board members gave second-round approval to an application for $71,519 in federal funds from the Education Professions Development Act to train 50 potential teacher aides selected from applicants with low incomes.

Most of the paraprofessionals will be assigned to positions in the federal Head Start and Follow Through programs of the district. Sixteen of the aides who successfully complete the six-week summer training will be placed in other positions with the district, according to Administrative Assistant Anne Campbell.

Two More Groups

Two more groups of 50 teacher aides will be trained during successive summers under the program. In-service training, on-the-job training and college courses also will be provided for the aides during the school year.

The board reappointed the classroom teaching staff except for 42 persons. Of the teachers not reappointed, 28 were hired during the school year and have not yet been fully evaluated, according to Personnel Director Carroll Sawin. Recommendations on reappointments from that group will be made later, he said.

Nine persons not reappointed are on tenure and six persons are being considered for early retirement, according to Sawin.

Lincoln Police To Enforce Parking At Public Schools

Parking restrictions at East High and other schools will be enforced by the Lincoln Police Department, the Lincoln Board of Education decided Tuesday.

Cars parked illegally along red lines and planted areas should be subject to city traffic citations, board members agreed, and adopted a parking policy for the city police to enforce.

The Police Department will enforce parking regulations on the district's property if restrictions have been established, explained Supt. John Prasch, recommending the parking policy.

Board members asked school officials to warn patrons about the parking policy, especially at East High where night school students "ignore" parking instructions, before the police are asked to ticket violators.

School officials and board members should "be prepared for scores of complaints" when the enforcement begins, warned Mrs. Catherine Angle, board president.

Students have been "fairly responsive" to the parking limitations at East High, but at night, the rules are "relatively ignored," Prasch noted.

A long-term solution would be a different parking arrangement at East, the superintendent said, indicating that a recommendation for new parking provisions may be made soon.

Auditorium's Costs Top $500 A Day For Events

The cost to open the auditorium for an event totals slightly more than $500 a day, Auditorium Manager Ike Hoig told members of the Pershing Auditorium Advisory Board Tuesday.

Hoig said the average overhead costs, which include utilities and labor, salaries, insurance and social security and employe retirement, totals $490. The cost of depreciation of the building and equipment brings the total to more than $500.

He added that groups selling tickets must figure in this cost as well as their other expenses in determining ticket prices.

Hoig said that the month of February was a profitable month. He said that the travel and boat show and the auto show drew approximately 26,000 visitors.

The auditorium is $1,877 in the red this fiscal year, Hoig said, but noted that losses last year through February totaled $6,321.

"We would be in real good shape financially if we did not keep updating our building and facilities," Hoig said, noting that he is always at work in modernizing the auditorium.

Hoig also reported to board members he is trying to get Glenn Campbell here on May 23. "We need to provide 7,700 seats in order to get him," he said.

IF YOU ARE A LOGICAL PERSON, READ THIS!!

DID YOU KNOW that the first profit from each grocery dollar goes to the farmer, the cattle raiser or the fisherman? Transportation to the factory or the packaging company takes the next slice. These folks, in turn, must have the next part of your grocery dollar as their profit. Another few pennies are eaten up in transportation to the warehouse which also takes a piece of the profit. The trucker gets in line again and finally the retailer . . . before YOU buy it from the shelf. Isn't it logical that someone could eliminate a number of these steps and cut that added profit from the price you pay?

Stocks Mixed In Light Trading

New York (AP) — The stock market showed a mixed pattern Tuesday in light trading.

Until the final half-hour of the session, changes in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had been only fractional.

The Dow closed ahead 1.39 at 779.70, the best level of the session. Declines outnumbered advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

One analyst, who termed the session "Dullsville," said the drifting performance of the last two sessions was "part of a sideways movement that the market has to go through in a consolidation period."

Most analysts said there had to be a development such as an easing of credit before investors would commit more funds to the market for an extended period.

Of 1,575 stocks traded on the New York Stock Exchange, 706 declined, and 587 advanced. New 1969-70 lows were reported for 31 issues while three attained new highs.

Volume on the Big Board declined to 9.5 million shares from 9.8 million shares Monday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed with a loss of .3 to 276.7. Industrials were off .4, rails off .1, and utilities off .4.

The New York exchange index of some 1,200 common stocks rose 0.07 to 49.58. The Standard & Poor 500-stock index was ahead .24 to 88.75.

Chemicals and oils were up. A retroactive reduction in oil imports from Canada was announced by President Nixon. Steels, building materials and drugs declined.

Prices of blue chips included Jersey Standard, up 1 to 53⅞; American Telephone, off 1¼ at 52; General Motors, off ¾ to 71; International Nickel, up 1 to 44⅜; Allied Chemical up ¼ to 24¼; and Dup Pont, up ¼ to 97½.

The prices of glamor issues, which had suffered large reverses Monday, were generally ahead. Among them were Mohawk Data, up 1½ to 65; Telex, up 5¼ to 123¼; Memorex, up ¾ to 120⅝; and University Computing, up 1⅛ to 50¼.

The number of blocks of 10,000 or more shares rose to 60 from 48 on the Big Board Monday.

Other Big Board prices included Gulf Oil, off ¼ at 25½; Kresge, up 2¼ at 45¾; Carter-Wallace, up ⅝ at 25½; Itek, up 1½ at 69¼, and Evans Products, off 1 at 37½.

The American Stock Exchange index was unchanged at 25.38. Declines outnumbered advances 457 to 371. Volume declined to 3.1 million shares from 3.7 million shares Monday.

Amex prices included British Petroleum, up ¼ to 11½; Viewlex, off ⅞ to 19⅞; and Levin-Townsend, off 1¾ to 9½.

Deterioration Of Quality Of Life Seen If Population Problem Is Not Solved

By SAM THORSON
Star Staff Writer

"The quality of life will eventually deteriorate if the population problem passes the point of no return," City-County Health Education Director Lester M. Jensen said Tuesday night.

Jensen addressed the City-County Health Board on the question of family planning.

Specifically, the world's food supply will grow more and more inadequate as the population expands, and the tensions which accompany congestion and crowding will increase, Jensen said.

Many parents are simply not emotionally mature enough to supply a child with the climate of emotional stability required for their development into adequate and well-adjusted adults, Jensen said.

Other parents do not have the financial resources to nurture physically and mentally healthy children. Such parents should use birth control, he said.

Not Only Food

Economic factors weighing in favor of family planning include not only the food problem, but an increase, as a result of population increase, of such common expenses as education. Jensen quoted sources saying that education costs increase some 27% for every 2 increase in population.

Man faces decimation from starvation and disease if he leaves stabilization of the population boom to the forces of natural equilibrium, he explained.

The results would be disastrous, and the danger is compounded by the fact that the ecological leveling of population excess would follow a time lag, he added.

Millions Spent

Dr. George Underwood, director of the health department, said that millions are being spent to save lives but not to control birth and avoid population imbalance.

We have actually increased the problems of some underdeveloped countries by preventing disease and lowering the mortality rate without controlling the birth rate as well.

New drugs often undergo a characteristic pattern of popularity, he explained. They become widely used until undesirable potential side effects are discovered, at which point a panic scares people away from the drug temporarily.

An intermediate level of use is eventually established, he said.

The use of birth control pills, like that of cyclamates, is now unnecessarily on the downswing because of a recent scare concerning medical hazards of their use, Underwood said.

Caution Urged

The dangers of the pill are still considerably less than the dangers of pregnancy, however, and although caution must be used in prescribing it, the pill is a simple and useful contraceptive device, Underwood explained.

Women on welfare can receive free examinations and prescriptions for the pill or for intra-uterine contraceptive devices from any doctor under federal programs, he said.

Nevertheless few non-affluent Lincoln women probably take advantage, he said, compared to the number of affluent Lincoln women on the pill, which "is probably astronomical."

Hiram Fong Raps Column By Anderson

Washington (AP) — Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, complained to the Senate Tuesday he was falsely maligned in a syndicated column accusing him of a part in an alleged "hush-up" of a Senate insurance investigation.

"An article published Tuesday . . . over the by-line of columnist Jack Anderson is a gross distortion and omission of essential facts to fabricate a smear job against me and two of my distinguished colleagues," Fong said in a Senate speech.

(The column, syndicated by Bell-McClure, appeared in Tuesday editions of the Lincoln Star.)

The article alleged that Fong and Sens. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., and Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., joined in a secret session of the Senate antitrust subcommittee to prevent a report on a Wisconsin insurance firm to reach the Wisconsin insurance commissioner.

The article said the insurance firm — Hardware Mutual Fire Insurance Co. — sought to convert its financial structure from a mutual company owned by its policy holders to a stock company owned by a relatively small group of stockholders.

Fong said word of the meeting and its subject was published in advance and that he had never heard of the matter before it was brought up. He said the decision not to forward the report to Wisconsin insurance officials was based on the fact the report was unapproved, incomplete, still unread by most of the senators and was not an official subcommittee document.

But he said the seven-member panel voted unanimously to permit Bernard Webb, who prepared the report as a staff consultant, to testify before the Wisconsin unit and to include, if he chose, information he gathered by use of Senate subpoenas.

Membership Drive Begins For Concerts

The Lincoln Community Concert Association's membership drive for the 1970-71 season officially opened Tuesday with a kickoff dinner.

More than 250 volunteers were on hand to hear George Blake, president and western manager of Community Concerts, discuss coming concert programs.

According to Nate C. Holman, chairman of the Lincoln association's board, the membership campaign ends March 21, after which no memberships will be available.

Holman said that the association currently has more than 4,200 members. The goal for the upcoming season is 5,000.

Those purchasing new memberships before the deadline may attend one of the season's final concerts as a bonus. The March 16 program features the Norman Luboff Choir, and on April 7, the folk group of Addis & Crofut will be in concert.

The 1970-71 season includes the Broadway musical "1776," pianist Peter Nero, the Minnesota Orchestra and the Robert De Cormier Singers.

There is, however, Holman stressed, the possibility of adding a fifth, as yet unannounced, concert if the membership campaign is a "big" success.

American Trailers, presently operating two production facilities in Oklahoma City totaling about 300,000 square feet, manufactures freight vans, refrigerated vans, livestock trailers and platform trailers.

Harrison also announced the election of Roy V. Edwards of Oklahoma City to the board of directors of the Fleming Co.

$50,000 Sought; Man Lost Thumb In '69 Accident

A $50,000 suit was filed Tuesday in Lancaster District Court by Dale Jeffrey in connection with a Nov. 14, 1969 accident in which he lost his thumb.

Named as defendant in the action is Fred Retzlaff, who according to the petition, had a contract with Louis D. Jeffrey, president of J.H.J. Enterprises Inc., to pick and shell and dry corn for a fixed fee per bushel as an individual contractor.

The plaintiff contends that the defendant asked him to stop the rotation of the shaft used to connect the power to the dryer and in attempting to stop it his gloved right hand became caught and his thumb was taken off.

According to the petition, the defendant was negligent in maintaining a defective tractor and in allowing the differential to be in a dangerous condition without guards or protective devices and in asking the plaintiff to stop the rotation when he knew it was dangerous to do so.

Milana To Speak

Proposals Outlined To Ease Tax Load

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Democratic senatorial candidate Wallace Peterson Tuesday suggested that federal action—including revenue sharing with state and local government — can help relieve Nebraska's local property tax burden.

The property tax, major source of tax discontent in the state, is "a 19th Century tax . . . a regressive tax," Peterson told a Lincoln news conference.

Sharing of federal revenue, in combination with his own proposal to establish an urban bank system, could lessen government's dependence on property taxes, the chairman of the University of Nebraska's Department of Economics said.

Peterson's plan to establish an urban bank system, the details of which he expects to outline later, would help fund capital expenditures at the state and local level, he said.

Completes Filing

Peterson, 48, completed his formal filing as a candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination with a pledge to undertake domestic reforms designed to give all Americans "a fair shake from society."

The nation can enjoy full employment without inflation "only when the great majority of Americans believe they are receiving a fair income from our highly productive economic system," he said.

Sen. Roman Hruska, Peterson said, displays "astonishing ignorance" about the economy.

Hruska, he said, is "naive to believe that a tiny budgetary surplus (tied to increasing unemployment, tight money and the sacrifice of vital civilian programs) can have any real impact upon the inflation in our trillion dollar economy."

Urban Tax

Peterson proposed establishment of a special national urban tax to channel funds into city areas in the greatest need.

Taxes would be higher "where the money is," chiefly in the outer ring of suburbs surrounding major American cities, and funds would be expended "where the problems are," particularly in the center core of those cities, he said.

A rebate system would be built into the federal income tax differential to provide an incentive for local subdivisions of government to consolidate, Peterson said.

The Democrat said the quickest short-term answer in the fight against inflation is to reduce military expenditures. That action would also free funds for domestic priorities over the long haul, he noted.

Military spending, on the level of about $78 billion last year, could safely be cut to $60 billion, Peterson said.

If he wins his party's nomination, Peterson said, he hopes to be able to raise $100,000 in campaign funds for the general election. Only about $15,000 has thus far been pledged, he said.

Hruska, he guessed, will have more than $200,000 for his campaign.

'Uphill Battle'

"But people vote, not money," Peterson said, although he acknowledged that he is in "an uphill battle."

On other matters, Peterson said:

—While there may be a legal difference between de facto and de jure school segregation, "morally there is no difference."

—the nation needs, "sooner rather than later," some form of comprehensive health insurance program which includes regulation of medical fees.

—the 1965 federal voting rights act properly concentrated on seven Southern states because "only in the South do we find legal harassment of black Americans when they attempt to exercise their constitutional right to vote." Hruska opposes extension of the act in its present form.

—Hruska has "voted against tax reforms to aid moderate and lower income families, and he voted against other needed appropriations such as full funding of the school lunch program and increased aid to education in the HEW appropriations bill."

—Hruska, in his opinion, has made "no significant contribution to our national life" after 15 years in the Senate.

Capitalism 'Smells'

Lusaka, Zambia (AP) —President Kenneth Kaunda told a seminar of 150 businessmen that capitalism "smells of colonialism" and must be replaced. He proposed worker ownership of industry and worker participation in management through labor councils.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

Springy days again. The sun fell into the scatter. The retriever pup climbed back into his favorite sun spot in the garden. (The ground cover is ruined. But easy come, easy go.)

The house wren felt the sun and it stirred some glandular reaction.

She said: "I haven't spent a cent for clothes in three months. Aren't you proud of me?"

I said: "Brave girl! Good show!"

☆ ☆ ☆

She said: "There's a wonderful ad for an orange checked cotton." She said: "I'm not thinking of buying it. I just noticed the ad."

She passed me the paper and said: "Here it is. Do you think it would look good on me? Do you want some more coffee?"

I said: "Don't tug at my easily."

☆ ☆ ☆

She brought more coffee and said: "Everybody I know is shopping for spring wardrobes. But I just told them, 'After I got myself so deep in debt last year, I've decided to be Spartan about it.' "

"You're a real tiger," I said.

She said: "Would you like to know what else I said?"

"I'm on the edge of the chair," I said.

She said: "I told them: 'I'm just going to make last year's things do.' "

I said: "I'll bet that shook them up. Where did this happen?"

She said: "Well, we were all downtown. So we just happened to be passing and saw these things in the window. So we just dropped in to look and —."

I said: "Stop stalling. What did you buy?"

☆ ☆ ☆

She said: "I didn't buy anything. I just had it sent out on approval. So you could look at it."

"God pity the sailors on a night like this," I said.

She said: "I don't see why you should be upset. I haven't bought anything yet."

I said: "What does the 'yet' mean, pray?"

She said: "It means if you don't like it, we can just send it back."

☆ ☆ ☆

I said: "I think I'll go out today and buy himself a whole bunch of suits. Jackets and wild ties and things like that."

She said: "You know I never object to your spending money on yourself. You can do anything you like with the money."

I said: "What money? We're on our way to the poorhouse. Hear the news?"

She said: "I'll send it back without unwrapping the box. I won't even look at it."

I said: "Pass me a Kleenex. I don't think I can control my emotions."

☆ ☆ ☆

She said: "I figured it out. I know I was foolish to get so far in debt last year. But now you paid the bills and I agreed to pay you back. Right?"

"On the button," I said. "We await your check with eagerness."

She said: "So I owe you $500." I said, "Pardon me, $700." "I think you're wrong," she said. "But it's only a few dollars difference."

She said: "So I owe you the money—I don't argue about that. Are you sure it was $700? I'm positive it was $500. Or maybe less. Anyway, we won't argue. I thought if I bought the dress, I'd pay cash.

"Now I couldn't pay you back right away," she said. "Because I'd be paying cash. But I would still owe it to you."

I said: "It's a little more complicated than the national debt. But if Nixon can face it, why should I falter?"

She said: "It seems simple to me. And remember, if you don't like the dress, we can send it right back."

I said: "It's a little more complicated than the national debt. But if Nixon can face it, why should I falter?"

She said: "It seems simple to me. And remember, if you don't like the dress, we can send it right back."

I said: "What about your friends? What about those brave resolutions you sawed off on them?"

She said: "Oh, they'll understand."
